CANADIANS OF VIMY GROUP AT CAMBRAI TODAY

Legion Leaders, Advance Guard of 6,000 Pilgrims, Given Civic Welcome at Scene of Great War Battle in France

Brig.-Gen. A. Ross Is Luncheon Speaker

By CAPT. W. W. MURRAY, M.C.
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Cambrai, France, July 22.—The Canadian Legion's official party, here in advance of 6,000 pilgrims who will visit Vimy for the dedication by the King next Sunday of Canada's Memorial to her war dead, came to Cambrai today to a civic welcome and an exchange of memories.

War days were recalled by Brig.-Gen. Alex. Ross, Canadian Legion president, at a luncheon given by the mayor and citizens. General Ross said he had first seen Cambrai on October 1, 1918, "from the ridge by Tilloy, where I watched the battle being waged for its possession."

A week later the time came, and his own brigade—the 6th Canadian Infantry—had been launched in attack from the north, and surprising the enemy, entered the city while other troops converged from the south.

"It was a sad sight. Fires blazed fiercely here and there," said General Ross. "Your beautiful buildings were shattered and ruined. War had dealt badly with you."

He contrasted the entry of the Canadians into Cambrai then with their return here today. "It would be impossible for all of the 6,000 pilgrims to visit Cambrai, consequently the advance guard of the official party was conveying their greetings and expressed 'joy and thanksgiving' at the wonderful recovery of the city."

"This is for us a sacred pilgrimage because we came primarily to visit the graves of those we left behind," he said. "Old comrades have not forgotten the friends of other years and will look on the resting places of those who lie in the soil of France."

The pilgrims had come far to perform this sacred duty and General Ross hoped their mission would be understood.

B.C. PURCHASES $10,000 IN GOLD

Aid For Placer Miners Proves Success, Says Department

Close to $10,000 in virgin gold, washed from the streams of British Columbia, has been acquired by the provincial government in the last year under its new small purchase plan for placer miners. The department of mines estimated today.

Last available figures show the government bought $8,653 worth up to the end of March and since that time the purchases have been made steadily. The amount purchased was 304 ounces in 342 lots.

Little gold dust is being mined in the province, and the government's office here every week from gold commissioners in the outlying parts of the province. Some have an ounce or two, others have less.

The government pays the miners $28 an ounce. Previously they obtained about $23 by using the gold to buy their supplies, or else had to save it up until they had a shipment big enough to send to the Dominion assay office. Under the new plan they get cash on the spot.

The local assay office takes all the little pieces together and makes it up into one lot which is then resold to the Dominion Government. The difference in price paid to the miners and that received by the province just pays for the service given, it was explained.

REV. DR. J. L. BARTON DIES

Terror In San Sebastian, North Spain

First actual picture of revolutionary scenes in Spain received in Victoria is that above. Rebels gained control of the city of San Sebastian yesterday. Today the two sides were locked in battle. The scene occurred between the outbreak of the revolt last Friday and Saturday and yesterday's fighting. It shows how, thrown into panic by the fighting the populace rushed madly through the streets seeking places of safety. Helpless women sprawled on the sidewalk where they had been bowled over and trampled by the onrushing crowd. The picture was radiated across the Atlantic by the NEA Service.

CLASHES AT COAL HEARING

Alleged Threats Regarding Uniform Prices in Montreal to Be Investigated

Canadian Press
Montreal, July 22.—Col. Andrew Fleming before the Tory royal commission, investigating the anthracite coal situation in Canada, was suspended today after mention was made of threats to importers regarding uniformity of prices in Montreal. The name of Senator Lorne G. Webster was mentioned in connection with the threats, allegedly made prior to 1933.

Following suspensions of the evidence of the Hart and Adair Company official, Commission Counsel Bernard Bissonette said Senator Webster would be called for questioning about the threats.

The suspension featured a session punctuated by frequent clashes between coal companies from 1930 to 1933, prior to conviction of several firms for doing business contrary to the Combines Act.

Senator Webster's name was injected into proceedings when Mr. Bissonette asked: "What was the threat by Senator Webster or other companies to other importers in regard to fixing prices?"

"There was no threat to Hart and Adair," replied Fleming.

Ballots Are Sent Out In Manitoba

Boxes Given to Deputy Returning Officers and All Made Ready For Provincial Election July 27

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, July 22.—Manitoba's election machinery was all set today for the trek of the electors to the polls July 27.
All the ballot boxes except for the ten-member constituency of Winnipeg have been sent out to deputy returning officers, J. L. Johnston, clerk of the Executive Council, announced.

Reduction Estimated at $50,000 Annually Will Be Made Available Next Month to Domestic Consumers, A. T. Goward, Vice-president of B.C. Electric Announces

Reductions in charges for electric current, estimated to save 17,500 domestic consumers of Greater Victoria and suburban areas about $50,000 a year, will become effective on meter readings taken on and after August 1. It was announced this morning by A. T. Goward, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

The current rate in Greater Victoria in 6 cents a kilowatt hour, with a secondary step of 3 cents a kilowatt hour. These will now become 6 cents and 2 cents and the charge in the suburban areas will be 8 cents and 2 cents.

Minimum monthly charges will remain as at present.

The reduction will affect homes only, and will not cut charges in commercial houses.

In discussing the new rate with The Times representative this morning, Mr. Goward pointed out some of the advantages that will accrue to domestic consumers.

ONE METER REGISTERS

Under the new schedule the secondary, or 2 cent rate, will be reached earlier in the scale of consumption, and on exactly the same basis as in now extended to lighting and electric range consumers, with all consumption registered on one meter under the floor area plan.

This will also result in a change in computing the floor area charges.

HEALTH PLAN MOVES AHEAD

Employers Co-operating Well, Says Health Insurance Commission

With more than 3,000 replies received already to employers' registration forms set out last week, the B.C. Health Insurance Commission today began the tabulation of returns to determine how many persons in the province will come under the health insurance act passed by the Legislature in the spring.

Close to 18,000 registration forms were sent out by the commission. They went to employers of all classes of labor except domestic and agricultural help.

"The co-operation we have received so far has been most gratifying," a spokesman for the commission said this morning.

The deadline for return of the forms has been set for July 31, and shortly after that, it is expected, the commission will be able to calculate the exact number of persons to be insured.

MACKENZIE HOME TO BE PRESERVED

Canadian Press
Toronto, July 22.—The property at 82 Bond Street, Toronto, formerly the old William Lyon Mackenzie home, has been purchased by a client whose intention is to restore the house and preserve the place as an historical site, according to an announcement by a real estate firm. It was the home of Toronto's first mayor and leader of the rebellion of 1837 in Upper Canada, of whom the present Prime Minister of Canada is a grandson.

Little Protection For Other National Groups As Civil War Extends

CAMP ERECTED AT SAN JUAN

Logging Operations on West Coast Will Involve Much Money, Says R. Mills

A construction camp had been erected at San Juan Bay, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, and forty men are now at work there, according to Russell Mills of the Malahat Logging Company who was at the Dominion Hotel this morning.

It will probably be a year before the logging operations at San Juan, which will be among the most extensive on the island, will be in full swing, Mr. Mills said.

Asked if there was any truth in rumors that the company planned to spend $500,000 before taking out the first timber, Mr. Mills said: "There have been a lot of stories around. Anyway we shall spend a lot of money before we take the first stick out."

The operations, the preliminary surveying for which started in February, will include the building of sixteen miles of railroad track.

Questioned as to the possibility of a separate community springing up at San Juan in connection with the logging operations, Mr. Mills said: "It is not likely in the near future. After the operations are well under way there will be about 200 men at work. That will bring with it a certain amount of community development, but that does not mean we are thinking of building a company town."

The company does not contemplate the installation of a sawmill at the scene of the logging. Any mill in the future would be purely to supply local needs, and there are no plans for that at present, according to Mr. Mills.

The scene of the operations is near Port Renfrew.

SAY KING MAY VISIT CANADA

Rumors in London of Tour Through Dominion and U.S. After Coronation

Associated Press
London, July 22.—Rumors in court circles have it that the King may visit Canada, and possibly the United States, after the coronation next year.

If this plan is carried out, it is said, His Majesty would go to Ottawa and then to his E. P. Ranch in Alberta, returning via New York.

Traveling as the Duke of Lancaster, the story goes, His Majesty would stop with friends on Long Island, where he visited as the Prince of Wales, and would make a courtesy call on the President.

DESTROYER SUNK NEAR GIBRALTAR

Canadian Press From Havas
Perpignan, France, July 22.—Gen. Emilio Mola, rebel leader in northern Spain, was killed today at San Sebastian, it was reported here tonight.

REBEL AIRPLANES OVER GIBRALTAR

Associated Press
London, July 22.—A radio broadcast from Seville today said rebel planes had bombed and sunk three Spanish ships which were bombarding Cadiz.

TOLEDO RECAPTURED

Canadian Press From Havas
Madrid, July 22.—Toledo, a Spanish city about forty miles south of Madrid, was recovered today from rebel troops, the government announced in a radio communique.

The Alcazar fortress, where cadets revolted and fought a bitter battle with loyalists, held out to the last, but was finally taken by civil and assault guards after the rest of Toledo had submitted to the government, it said.

Airplanes played a large part in capturing the city. Great numbers of rebel officers and soldiers were captured.

MANY PRISONERS

It was also announced that Guadalupe, thirty-four miles northwest of Madrid, had been brought under the control of the government after loyal troops had surrounded it. Many rebels were reported captured.

A revolting column encountered by government troops and civilian militia near Somosierra was routed, the communique said. In their flight the rebels abandoned a quantity of arms and munitions.

Barcelona was in the hands of government supporters today after bitter fighting.

SAN SEBASTIAN

Associated Press
Hendaye, France, July 22.—The fate of San Sebastian, a key objective of Spain's northern rebels, was plunged into uncertainty tonight with day-long fighting reported in the streets and a loyal gunboat preparing to shell rebel positions from the harbor.

(A Reuter dispatch received in London from Hendaye said government forces had recaptured San Sebastian, where foreign diplomats have summer headquarters.)

Both Fascist rebel headquarters in Vera, Spain, and Popular Front leaders holding Iron claim victories in San Sebastian.

BRITISH WARSHIPS ARE SENT TO SPAIN

Associated Press
London, July 22.—The Admiralty today announced further warship movements for the protection of British lives and property in Spain.

The cruiser London, flagship of the first cruiser squadron, was due at Barcelona today.

The flotilla leader Douglas and the destroyers Garland, Ipswich and Gallant are due there tomorrow.

In addition to other vessels in Spanish waters, the cruiser Devonshire has been ordered to Palma, the flotilla leader Keith to Valencia, the destroyer Boddie to Alicante, and the destroyer Basilisk to Almeria.

Extension of Treaty With New Zealand For Year Gives Opportunity For Revision; Bigger Sales to Canada Suggested

Canadian Press
Ottawa, July 22.—Arrangements are being made here this week for an extension of the Canada-New Zealand trade agreement until September 30, 1937. The agreement was set to expire the end of this month and under an act passed in 1933 it may be renewed by order-in-council for such time as may be arranged between the two governments.

Both governments have now agreed on the extension and the necessary order-in-council will likely be passed this week.

Between now and September, 1937, it is expected discussion as to revision and extension of the agreement will take place. There have been a few preliminary discussions already, particularly when Premier G. W. Forbes of New Zealand visited Ottawa more than a year ago.

WANT NEW BALANCE

Wellington, N.Z., July 22.—Finance Minister W. Nash announced today that New Zealand's trade agreement with Canada was renewed until September 30, 1937.

Before then, however, he said the government would try to secure a revision in the terms of the agreement designed to ensure that New Zealand should have a greater share in the exchange of goods.

Mr. Nash said New Zealand's exports to Canada last year were only about $500,000 (about $2,500,000), while imports from Canada were about $2,000,000 ($10,000,000).

Prospects Of Three Comets Causes Stir

But Russian and Japanese Discoveries Are Found to Be Same By Astronomers at Little Saanich Mountain Observatory

The prospect of three large comets being visible in the sky at the same time interested astronomers at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory this morning.

Such an event would have been almost unique in the history of astronomy. Later calculations showed that the latest comet reported by Soviet astronomers was probably the same as that seen in Japan four days ago.

The reports of the Russian stargazers were probably rather exaggerated, astronomers thought. The Russians had termed the comet "The strongest discovered in a decade."

"I feel fairly sure the Russian comet is one and the same as the Japanese," said Dr. W. E. Harper, director of the Victoria observatory. "It is in just about the same position as that reported from Japan, and it would be almost incredible for two comets of the same magnitude to be observed in the same quarter of the sky."

The Japanese comet was reported by the astronomer Kaho to be in the western sky, and that seen at Ashkhabad in Russia as between the constellations of the Lion and the Lynx.

CONFIRMATION
Tokio, Lick, Yerkes, Harvard and Victoria observatories and Tashkent Observatory in Turkistan have confirmed the existence of Kaho's comet.

Heavy Demand For Postcards

Tourists Buy Thousands to Send Home to Friends; Post Office Finds Business Better

Close to 100,000 postcards, showing views of Victoria, have been sent through the local post office since the first of the month. It was estimated this morning by post office officials.

"We have also noticed an increase in the air mail, particularly to the south," G. H. Gardner, postmaster, said today.

"Last week, when each boat brought so many people, several thousand postcards a day were sent to various parts of the United States."

Tourists who come here for only a day or two content themselves with sending postcards to relatives and friends back home. Those who are here a week or more, of course, write letters as well as mail postcards. But there has been little noticeable increase in either letters sent out or received.

This great increase in the mail from Victoria means added revenue for the Canadian government. About half the silver coins now in circulation in Victoria seem to be of United States currency. Fortunately there is no exchange at present, and Canadian and United States money passes between tourists and shopkeepers and then to local residents without any formalities.

"Though we live so far away," we do not feel we can be indifferent to the good or ill of the rest of the world, but feel that by promotion of friendship and understanding we may best promote the cause of peace," he said.

Dedication of Canada's War Memorial on Vimy Ridge next Sunday is to be commemorated in two special stamps issued by the French government. A special postal and telegraphic service will be in operation at Vimy during the dedication, and letters and postcards mailed from there July 26 will bear a special stamp with the inscription: "Vimy, Canadian Memorial, July 26, 1936."

Albin de Poese, French engraver, has presented the Canadian Legion official party with a Vimy medal.

Val Valenciennes, where the ceremony of re-christening L'Avenue de la Touraille, after the late Sergt. Hugh Cairns, V.C., of Saskatoon, will be performed Saturday. Cambrai is a city which the Canadians regard peculiarly as their own. The Canadian Corps liberated Cambrai October 8, 1918, following a series of battles which in intensity and in losses were unparalleled in the war.

Canadian association with Cambrai, however, did not begin with the actions of September and October, 1918. Eleven months previously Canadian troops had played a notable part in the unsuccessful attempt to free the city. In November, 1917, Gen. Sir Julian Byng, commanding the Third Army, launched his famous attack which was fruitful up to a point. In that offensive the Canadian Cavalry Brigade, under Maj.-Gen. Sir J. E. B. Seely, was conspicuous.

Uniformity for the upshot of the operation, Gen. Byng attacked with tired divisions. He had asked for the Canadian Corps, but Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, the commander-in-chief, had earmarked the corps for the holocaust of Passchendaele.

CAVALRY ACTION
However, it was in that action a squadron of the Port Garry Horse made history when, traversing the canal near Masnières, they galloped off into the blue. Their assignment was the capture of a German corps headquarters at Ecauldou, on the northeastern outskirts of the city. The Garrys did not capture the German headquarters, but they did spend most of the day and part of the night entirely cut off, miles behind the German line, near Rumilly.

During the night, the survivors of the squadron flitted back, abandoning their horses and "sneaking" through the German positions and eventually returning to their regiment. His leadership in this episode brought the award of the Victoria Cross to Lieut. H. Stuchan.

CORPS ACTION

The Canadian corps saw Cambrai first from the flank of Bourlon Wood, which it captured after storming across the Canal du Nord September 27, 1918—achieving what the higher command had not unreasonably declared to be impossible. For eleven days some of the bitterest fighting of the war ensued in the city. Bourlon—Sartigny—Battigny are names to conjure in recalling the episodes of the last 100 days. The enemy threw division after division against the Canadians, but each was fought to a standstill—far accomplishing this, however, the corps itself came near the breaking point.

It was touch and go at the last, a question as to who would finally give up—and the Germans settled the issue by withdrawing somewhat ungraciously. Cambrai was set on fire and many of its beautiful and ancient buildings destroyed. The Canadian patrols pushed through the city in some places almost encircled by flames.

Electric Current Charges Lowered

which will also operate to the benefit of consumers, Mr. Goward said. As an instance, Mr. Goward cited the case of a house rated at 2,000 square feet floor area. Under the present system this house does not reach the secondary or C rate until a minimum monthly consumption of 60 kilowatt hours has been reached. Under the new rates the 2 cent rate will be reached with a minimum monthly consumption of 50 kilowatt hours.

LOW CURRENT COST
"We fully realize," Mr. Goward said, "that more and more people are constantly making additions to the electrical equipment in their homes. Each additional item of equipment placed in use will mean that, under the 2 cent rate, such appliances can be operated at a very low average cost for electric current."

"We have carried out, during the last several months, a very thorough survey of our domestic electric service account which indicated the reduction in rates will mean an annual saving, in the aggregate, to consumers, of roughly, $50,000 a year."

The new rates will apply to all territory served directly by the B.C. Electric Railway Company, in Victoria and district, Sooke, Metcalfe, Saanich, Sidney, Colwood, Shawnigan Lake, Mill Bay and Cobble Hill.

Commenting today on advice from the north that residents of the area had begun a movement to secede from Alberta and set up a governing council of their own, the Premier said, "I do not believe secession would do any portion of the province any good."

It merely would create a new government and new expenses," he added. "The Peace River has not given the present government much time to remedy affairs."

GUNBOAT THERE
Madrid, July 22.—A gunboat sent to San Sebastian harbor, on the Bay of Biscay.

Fascist forces in the city barricaded themselves principally in the casino and swimming club, as well as behind paving block barricades, where guards were frequently changed. Both the Vera headquarters and the loyal defense of Iran said "scores" had been killed and wounded.

An army of 2,000 miners and a mountain battery were pressed into service early today to oust the rebels, who seized the city last night.

BY ALEXANDER H. UHL
Associated Press Correspondent
Madrid, July 22.—A "red" committee for revolt-pressed Madrid today was reported authorized to distribute arms and to collect them from "unauthorized persons" in Spain's defense against the rightist revolution.

The republican flag flew everywhere in the capital on the sixth day of civil war in Spain and Morocco, although the Communist and Socialist insignia also were displayed. The committees of leftists, acting in co-operation with the government, distributed arms and food to volunteer militia forces.

FOOD MEASURES
Measures were announced to conserve food supplies. Purchases by any one family were restricted and other measures were taken to prevent waste and hoarding.

Details of the contemplated activities of the reported "red committee" were lacking, other than that it probably will supervise the arms situation.

DECISIVE BATTLE
Paris, July 22 (Associated Press).—Diplomatic sources tonight reported leftist forces of Spain were marching to meet the southern rebel army near Toledo, where a decisive battle was expected.

In Barcelona, the same source said, government forces supported by armed leftists suppressed a rebellion by several regiments of troops, with heavy fighting Sunday and Monday, and "considerable casualties."

CHAOS IN SOUTH
Southern provinces, near Gibraltar, were stated to be "chaotic," with leftists fighting rebel troops and rightist civilians in many cities. Malaga was reported now in the hands of left extremists, with churches and office buildings burning. Algeciras was stated to be completely in rebel hands.

Although police, leftists and loyal troops were in control of Madrid and the surrounding regions, diplomatic circles heard armed bands of rightist youths were terrorizing the suburbs, riding in stolen automobiles.

Madrid, July 22 (Havas News Agency).—One hundred and seven loyalist planes were ready here today with full war equipment to fly against rebel forces as the People's Front Government, harassed by the threat of two Fascist-Royalist armies converging on Madrid, discharged all civil servants disloyal to the republic and decreed emergency financial measures to have tottering Spain from a revolutionary triumph.

Three-fourths of a powerful Socialist-Communist workers' army left Madrid today to head off the rebels on two fronts. The rest stayed in the capital as reserves and to hold Madrid against internal insurrection. Large numbers of snipers who fired from windows into the streets were arrested. An official communique announced the rebel general, Cabanellas, commander of the Fifth Division at Zaragoza, had called a general mobilization of all young men in the classes from 1931 to 1936, ordering them to report immediately to rebel barracks.

Despite provincial reports that the Fascists had gained widespread control both in northern and southern Spain, a government radio communique announced that the rebels were in flight everywhere except at Zaragoza, Valladolid and the area around Seville.

Nevertheless, the government rushed five columns against revolutionaries encircling the capital, particularly at Toledo, Valladolid, Zaragoza and Burgos.

The mobilization of the medical service on a wartime basis anticipated heavy death toll in engagements which were expected to decide the rebellion.

Barcelona reported that workers, helped by civil and assault guards, had mastered the rebels after a bloody fight which lasted from Friday through Tuesday, President Luis de Companys of Catalonia province radioed that the rebel leaders, Gen. Manuel Godeo and Gen. Quiepo Llanyu Siero had been imprisoned.

NEW CATALANIAN CHIEF
Associated Press
Barcelona, Spain, July 22.—The government today named General Areneguren, former head of the Catalonian Civil Guard, to be military commander-in-chief of Catalonia.

General Areneguren replaced General Llano de la Encomienda, who was arrested. The slaying of Francisco Ascaso, Labor leader, while leading an attack Monday on the Dressanes artillery barracks, was disclosed when his name was published in a list of casualties.

A leftist deputy in the Catalan parliament, Amadeo Colledorme, his father and Claude Fournier, director of the Catalan Proletariat Party, were among others killed by machine-gun fire.

Washington, July 22 (Associated Press).—A possibility that the generally uncertain European situation might impel the United States to re-establish a naval squadron in European waters was indicated today by Secretary of State Hull.

NEW BRITISH DEFENCE PLAN

Companies With Territorial Regiments Will Be Ready to Protect Important Points in Case of War

London, July 22.—Rt. Hon. Alfred Duff Cooper, Secretary for War, told the House of Commons yesterday that the Royal Defence Corps, whose formation was arranged in 1934, will be replaced by national defence companies attached to the territorial infantry regiments.

He said enrolment would start September 1, and that the companies would be open to ex-service men between the ages of forty-five and sixty. Their duties will be to protect important points in Great Britain if and when war threatens or is declared.

The members will not be called up until such a time, nor will they be called out on account of civil disturbances, Mr. Duff Cooper said.

TOTAL TO BE 8,450
A total of approximately 8,450 officers and men is required, distributed among various counties.

The supplementary defence service estimates passed Monday evening by the House of Commons were apportioned as follows: Royal Air Force, £11,700,000 ($58,500,000); army, £6,600,000 ($33,000,000); royal navy, £1,059,000 ($5,295,000); royal ordnance factories, £293,700 ($1,468,500). The total supplementary estimates thus amounted to £19,652,700 ($98,263,500).

HENRY FORD ENVIES YOUTH

Nearing Seventy-third Birthday He Foresees Great Opportunities For New Age

Canadian Press
Detroit, July 22.—Henry Ford, whose influence through the automotive industry has done much to change the habits and thinking of the civilized world, will enter his seventy-fourth year July 30, wishing he was young again, envying the generations to come for the opportunities they will have.

In Mr. Ford's vision of a mechanistic, scientific tomorrow there are so many opportunities, he said in an interview just before going on a brief vacation, that "I envy the young people who will have a chance to grab them."

Mr. Ford expects a marked improvement in transportation through man's research into the problem of obtaining a greater portion of power available in fuels. Shelter, he said, will be provided in forms and by methods as yet unpredictable. There will be great changes in the provision of man's food.

A factor Mr. Ford expects to be important in promoting the improved standards of living is a new attitude toward money, evinced by this rising generation.

"The young folks can't see any sense in putting money away so someone can take it away from them. They want to use money in the way

Associated Press
Philadelphia, July 22.—The will of Jacob Arzheimer, probated yesterday, specified that the "pallbearers are requested to drink ten gallons of wine" after his funeral.

Arzheimer left an estate estimated at $8,500. The will named the pallbearers and provided $1,000 be spent at the funeral.

FIRE SWEEPS APARTMENTS

Vancouver Blaze Forces Tenants to Flee With Belongings

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 22.—Tenants were forced to flee and several thousand dollars' damage was done by a fire of unknown origin which swept through a West First Avenue apartment block last night. Five suites were damaged.

Starting in a garbage chute, the flames raged to the upper floors of the three-story brick structure and mushroomed out on the top floor.

The blaze was burning fiercely when firemen arrived and it was more than two hours before they were able to extinguish the flames. Residents of the block carried most of their belongings with them as they fled to the safety of the street.

CORONATION PLANS MADE

Committee Arranging Ceremony; Court of Claims Postponed For Brief Time

Canadian Press
London, July 22.—The court of claims in connection with the coronation of Edward VIII, scheduled originally to meet today, postponed its meeting to a later date owing to indisposition and prior engagements of certain members, it was announced.

At the court various persons will submit their claims to serve His Majesty in different traditional capacities. The King, several years ago, appointed a committee of forty-two persons at privy council to take care of initial preparations for celebration of the coronation in May, 1937.

Last Monday the prime minister and high commissioners of the Dominions were appointed by the King to serve on a special coronation commission.

Since the coronation of King George in 1911 the Statute of Westminster has endowed the Dominions with a new status and this is recognized as making it essential that the Dominions should have some voice in deciding general arrangements for the ceremony.

Seven of the members of the committee of forty-two also were members of the committee appointed for the coronation of King George. They are: The Archbishop of Canterbury, who was then Archbishop of York; the master of the horse, the Earl of Granard; the Bishop of London, Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington Ingram; the Marquess of Crewe, the Duke of Portland, Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George and Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill.

Editor in France Must Serve Term

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, July 22.—The Court of Appeals yesterday upheld an eight-month prison sentence imposed on Charles Maurras, royalist editor of the newspaper Action Française, on charges of instigating to political murder through the press. The sentence was handed down by a criminal court on May 24.

The Appeal Court also upheld a suspended eight-day prison term imposed on Joseph Delest, assistant editor of the newspaper.

Report Job Lost Is Stated Untrue

Canadian Press
Halifax, July 22.—Billy Bell, operator of the diamond drill which "found" Alfred Scadding, Dr. D. E. Robertson and Herman Magill in the Moose River Mine last April, is still on the provincial government payroll, Mines Minister Michael Dwyer said yesterday.

Reports that Bell, one of the heroes of the mine rescue, was out of work were untrue, the minister stated.

Prison Warden In Manitoba Dies

Brandon, Man., July 22.—Col. W. G. McLeod, forty-eight, warden of the Stony Mountain Penitentiary, died of pneumonia in a hospital here yesterday. Col. McLeod was born in Parkhill, Ont., in 1889, and had a distinguished record in the Great War. He was appointed warden of the Stony Mountain Penitentiary April 1, 1935.

Booklet Explains New School Act

Toronto, July 22.—To counteract criticism from the opposition, the Ontario government is having a booklet prepared to review the separate school legislation passed at the last session. A well-known authority on educational matters is preparing the book, it was announced here yesterday.

"Be It Ever
So Humble"

It is to the "humble homes" of Canada that the great majority of Life Insurance payments find their way.

Many such homes today would lack the necessities of life—were it not for the "little savings" which thrifty parents have set aside periodically in Life Insurance.

To the family which loses its breadwinner, Life Insurance means money to buy food and clothing—money to pay the rent—money to pay household bills—money to educate the children. Life Insurance also means, in many cases, independence of private charity or public relief.

In your own community, as well as in hundreds of cities and towns across Canada, "little savings" in Life Insurance are doing "big jobs". During the past six years, policyholders and beneficiaries in Canada have received, daily, half a million dollars from Life Insurance.

"Be it ever so humble"—there's no home which cannot have the much-needed protection of Life Insurance.

★ and now— 2¢ Electricity! ANNOUNCING A NEW LOW DOMESTIC RATE FOR ELECTRICITY

IN RECENT years the price of practically everything that enters into the make-up of the family budget has shown a tendency to increase.

THERE is, however, one notable exception—the cost of electric service in the home.

WITHOUT exception, every revision in the rates at which electric current is sold for domestic purposes in Victoria and district, has been a decrease.

IN LINE with the persistent policy of this company to reduce the cost of the various services it is privileged to supply, it now has pleasure in announcing to become effective on all meter readings made on and after August 1, 1936, and which rate will be available to all domestic users as under:

A NEW LOW RATE

Toryism Rears Its Head

A CANADIAN PRESS DISPATCH from London today says that the Conservative Parliamentary Agriculture Committee has decided to urge the Baldwin government to impose a customs duty on all meat imports—with preference for the Dominions.

It is pointed out that if the Conservative committee's plan is adopted, British meat producers will get a guaranteed price on a basis similar to that of the wheat scheme. "The whole proceeds of the import duties on meat from all sources," the dispatch says, "would be allocated to the livestock fund."

Under the Elliot scheme—Hon. Walter Elliot is Britain's Minister of Agriculture—the livestock industry of Britain has been heavily subsidized. The fact that this policy has resulted in higher cost of meat to the consumer, of course, does not disturb the complacent majority at Westminster.

What is implied in this recommendation of the Conservative Parliamentary Agriculture Committee, however, is that, seeing Canadian livestock going into the United States—after all, this country's natural market—under the lower tariff, the imperialists feel that they may make the economic gesture to which the London dispatch refers.

Back of it, of course, is a recognition of the fact that Great Britain's trade treaty with the Argentine, giving Argentina economic inducements to sell more of that country's products in the United Kingdom market, expires this year. This factor naturally puts the high protectionists, the so-called imperialists, of Great Britain, as it were, on the spot.

Another aspect of the situation as it concerns Britain's trade with the South American republics is that the present King, when Prince of Wales, was hailed by British importers and exporters—especially to Brazil and the Argentine—as the empire's most efficient salesman. His Majesty did a good job of work. And it is to be remembered that there is a great deal more British capital invested in South America than in the second-ranking Dominion of the British Commonwealth of Nations—Canada.

All of this controversy, of course, is an outcropping of the economic nationalism which has taken a stranglehold of the world. Until it is realized that under this system trade between nation and nation is a case of grab and greed the under-dog will have to pay the piper, not given a chance to call the tune.

Science and Civilization

WHEN AN ENTOMOLOGIST looks at an ant-hill and writes learnedly and interestingly about what happens in that insect community, that, admittedly, is science. But when social workings of a people or the world are viewed with a critical, scientific mind, they are denied the authority of science.

Physicists, chemists and biologists have been reluctant to admit economics, political theory and practice, history and sociology into the category of "science." But an increasing volume of scientific voices has warned that those who give new command of natural forces have an obligation to see that research is put to socially safe uses.

An eminent British man of science, Sir Richard Gregory, Bart., editor of Nature, is the latest to urge that "it is the duty of men of science to assist in promoting more worthy uses of the new powers they are continually placing in the hands of the community." Otherwise, the world seems likely to be reduced to "a place of dust and ashes." The impacts of science with society are now so numerous that scientific studies in the realm of social biology are even more necessary for civilized life than researches in the physical sciences," Sir Richard contends. "It is an ironical comment upon modern civilization that the social reaction to the gifts of plenty made possible by the progress of scientific knowledge is not a corresponding increase of human welfare but distress and unemployment and the prostitution of scientific effort to purposes of destruction.

"In so far as science has brought about increased control over the forces of Nature, it accepts responsibility for these conditions. It insists, however, that such deplorable consequences are not essential, but are due to the neglect of the application of scientific methods to the solution of social problems. Our distributive and economic system remains on the basis of a pre-scientific age, wholly unadjusted to the needs of a changing world, and unable to bear the burdens placed upon it by the problem of new and almost incredible abundance.

"Science can provide the world with everything required for the maintenance of a growing population in a rising standard of comfort; but there are no accepted principles for the right use of the new powers, and international agreements are mainly adjustments of national interests conceived in confined political atmospheres and determined by expediency. While this spirit prevails, the prospect of finding a formula which will unite civilized peoples for the general well-being of humanity seems almost hopeless.

A regenerative influence is required to save civilization from disaster, and the mission of science in the changing world of today should be to introduce it into the field of social biology, and thus enable us still to believe in the highest destiny of man."

Our Own British Columbia

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S INDUSTRIES this year are expected to show a very considerable improvement in value over 1935. The figure is put at $180,000,000, or an advance of more than $18,000,000 over last year.

This is all to the good. It is convincing proof to the investing world, whether on this side of the Atlantic or on the other, that this province, its basic assets, can be considered completely solvent—with a substantial balance in "the black."

What does not appear to be recognized is that British Columbia is a potential gold mine in the fullest sense of the term. Its forests, its mines, its fisheries, and all the industries tributary to these primary activities, will be able for many years to come to return substantial dividends.

The trouble with not a few of the citizens of this province is that they are afraid of British Columbia's future. Yet, all they have to do is study the map and governmental statistics to post themselves on their prospects.

It is about time that British Columbians—without the aid of what is known as government "pap"—took a hand in the development of their heritage. Hard work with little pay will have to be the slogan; but it will pay in the end.

Free Expression Denied

THE REMARKS OF LORD TYRRELL, president of the British Board of Film Censors, about the tendency for political "propaganda" to creep into films, have produced a strong reply from the Association of Cine-Technicians. They have passed a resolution taking "grave exception to the views expressed by Lord Tyrrell."

"The council holds no brief for any particular political belief whatsoever," the resolution states, "but it must none the less sternly resist any tendency to deprive those working in the field of cinematography of the right which they should enjoy as British citizens, the right of expression in their chosen field of any view not inconsistent with the law."

"To attempt to limit the function of cinematography exclusively to entertainment is outside the province and duties of censorship. If successful, it will establish the cinema per se as inferior in social value to literature and the other arts, and thereby degrade the status of the technicians who devote their lives to it."

There may be plenty of material left for the cinema after purely political and social "propaganda" is ruled out. Entertainment covers a wide field. But if the films are to be confined solely to entertainment, society will be denying itself that vital contribution in the realm of ideas that the cinema is capable of making so effectively. It seems strange that the films should be refused a freedom corresponding to that of the press, and even that of the legitimate stage.

Human Factors On Highway

THE HUMAN FACTOR IS THE biggest question mark in traffic safety. How long does it take to stop one's car? This is determined not so much by the speed of action of the brakes but by the time it takes to move one's foot from the accelerator to the brake. To do this requires a very complex procedure within the human body. Messages from eye or ear to brain, multiple messages from brain to muscles, and so on. This time necessary to begin braking a car varies widely with the individual.

Dr. Harry R. DeSilva of Harvard University's Bureau of Street Traffic Research has been operating an automobile driving clinic at the New York Museum of Science and Industry. Out of his experience he makes these suggestions:

1. Remember that even though you have average reaction time in braking your car it will travel forty-four feet before you can stop it if you are going twenty miles an hour, 132 feet at forty miles, and 264 feet at sixty miles.

2. Try the experiment of having someone in the car check to see how much of the time you stay on your own side of the road. It will probably be less than you think.

3. Collisions at highway crossings are usually caused by someone's ignorance of his own inability to estimate the relative speeds of moving vehicles. That someone may be you.

4. Many people are totally unaware of the extent of their "blindness" in the face of headlights glare. You may be one of these, so exercise extra caution in night driving.

The heeding of such suggestions by motor car drivers these summer days of crowded roads should keep death from riding the highways so frequently.

Notes

The chief job of civilization is to overcome evils that did not exist before we were civilized.

So Italy has gained prestige. Al Capone gained a lot of it, too, until he began feeling too big.

Correct this sentence: "He has firm convictions," said the man, "but he always sees both sides of a question."

Premier Abernethy of Alberta may not be able to deliver the twenty-five-dollar-a-month dividends; but at least he can give advice to those who find themselves in marital difficulties. When he answered a letter at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute last Sunday he said to a husband who had left his wife: "Don't be a piker, go back . . . there is no place like home." It apparently was a trivial argument which caused the rift in the family, but we are not told whether the advice of the Social Credit Premier was taken.

Loose Ends

Else Janis determines to do a strange thing—we get indignation on this diet—there is an economic study on Johnson Street—And Julius is no more.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ELSIE

ELSIE JANIS, who was a famous entertainer during and after the war, and who became famous again when, at forty-two, she married a young fellow of twenty-seven, has lately broken into the headlines once more. In a long and somewhat rambling revelation, she announced that she had received orders from G.H.Q. which is her name for God, and obeying them. She was going to sell all her worldly goods, she said, and give the proceeds, every cent, to the poor, thus observing literally the old command of the Scriptures.

It is a noble gesture. To test the public's reaction to it and to the Scriptures generally, I asked a few people what they thought of Miss Janis's decision. Every one of them, without hesitation, said that undoubtedly she had gone mad. This, no doubt, is the general public's reaction. We live in a sane age. We have no sympathy for madness.

DIGEST

AND STILL the digests stream from the printing presses—digests of news, of stories, of speeches, of pictures, of digests. You would think by the number of these publications now flooding the news stands that nothing was ever read in the original any more.

That, I suppose, is largely true. It is a highly significant picture of the present attitude of the public mind. The public mind is lazy. It hates to stir itself and master anything. It prefers to get its knowledge in the form of small pills, neatly compressed into two or three swallows, a man can acquire a feeling of wide knowledge, until it is almost true to say that a liberal education comes nowadays in a package no bigger than a package of gum.

It is just about as useful, for the fact is that most of the articles which are digested are themselves digests of the original facts. By the time the digests have been digested, there is almost nothing of the original left to digest. That is why they are absorbed so easily and also why they add little to the metabolism of the mind.

We are a generation living on a kind of light intellectual breakfast food and an occasional piece of candy. Probably it is better to master six good books in a lifetime than to read all the reviews and digests published in a year, but we prefer the semblance of learning rather than the real thing. It requires no effort and your friends won't know the difference. They, too, have mental indigestion from trying to digest too much intellectual candy. The rate of literacy, as some witty authority remarked, is appallingly high just now.

ECONOMICS

AT THE CORNER of Johnson and Government Streets I paused for a moment yesterday. A radio in a shop was shouting a speech by some American economist in a voice which you could hear two blocks off. The only listeners were three down-and-outs who looked at the world with weary eyes as they had spent their last cent the previous evening patriotically at the government liquor store. There they stood, blinking in the sunlight, drinking in every word of the radio speech, (having nothing else to drink).

"What we need," said the economist, "is the expenditure of more money on consumer goods. We should introduce into the monetary flow at least fifty billions more a year. We should double the average income and permit the average man to consume twice as much as formerly."

The three down-and-outs stood there blinking in the sun, having consumed all they could get hold of the previous night.

"And," said the radio speaker, "we must have citizens who are prepared to consume more and more because this is an age of universal richness such as the previous generations never dreamed of, when there is no excuse for any man to be poor."

A faint expression of intelligence passed over the three faces and quickly disappeared. They stood there listening in a stony silence, blinking very wisely in the sun.

There on the radio was the science of economics in theory. There on the pavement was economics in practice.

LEISURE

MANY SOCIOLOGISTS have been wondering how, in the age of enforced leisure just ahead, the human race will put its leisure to use. I have no such apprehensions because I have just been watching some members of the human race acquiring a summer tan.

It is surprising how much time a human being can and will devote to the acquisition of a tan. He, or, more likely she, will sit about in the sun for days on end, neither moving, speaking or thinking, simply absorbing sun for the purpose of decorating the skin with a brown glow.

It is gratifying to see such patience, such endurance, such a pride of workmanship. The man's or the woman's whole energies, physical and mental, are thrown into this great work. With the same instinct which inspires the ignorant people of the Middle Ages to build cathedrals, the modern educated person devotes himself or herself to building a layer of color on the epidermis.

Intuitively fellows like Michaelangelo painted dead pictures on walls. The modern artist paints a beautiful living picture on himself (or herself) and wears it, with a fine appreciation, most of the winter, sharing it with the neighbors generously all summer, until the bronze chests and backs of husky young workmen along our highways are now one of the most notable features of our scenery.

The age of leisure thus has no terrors for anyone who considers the problem carefully. When people can sit in the sun day after day, merely to acquire a tan they will learn in time, as society is perfected, merely to sit in the sun for no purpose at all. That will be the millennium.

OBITUARY

THIS IS JUST to record the end of an eminent resident of our lake. I refer to Julius, the great catfish. As I mentioned here before, Julius worked hard all summer to consume the worms which I dug in the swamp. His work consisted of being hauled up on a bent pin wielded by the little boy next door and then being poured back into the lake again, after a pleasant interval of an hour or so in a tin pail.

Alas, Julius will work no more. His associate in this business took him out of the pail, as he usually does, to show him to an admiring throng, pointing out his long whiskers with pride. Julius made the mistake of wriggling too much and landed on the ground. There he wriggled again and before we could stop him, he had wriggled under the plank walk where he couldn't be reached, despite extensive excavations.

Now Julius is beginning to smell very bad and Smokey keeps continual vigilance over him. We are beginning to doubt the legend that catfish never die. It looks as if we shall have to tear up the plank walk.

A LOSS TO THE GARDEN

To the Editor:—I am very sorry to hear we are losing Mr. Cowlishaw, manager of the Crystal Garden. Being keenly interested in swimming, I have been a regular patron of the pool since it opened.

We have always found Mr. Cowlishaw most affable and sincere in his endeavor to help swimming in every possible way he could. I feel the "Garden" is losing a most capable manager. I know all who have had dealings with him during his management of the pool deeply regret his leaving.

FROM AN ATLIN PIONEER

To the Editor:—I enclose postal note to pay for the continuation of my subscription to The Victoria Daily Times.

When I took The Times first it was compact. The present paper has become so large that it is a burden to carry it six or more miles to camp once a month. Then, having one month's Times to wade through at a time, one may miss some of the news.

The press has undergone great change, with the papers now more like huge magazines. If we could get the news on the first few pages, it would not cost us so much time looking for it.

"ONCE BITTEN, TWICE SHY"

To the Editor:—Europe, including the British Isles have been so badly bitten and scarred—not to say scared—in the past by the "dogs of war" that it is only natural the inhabitants should feel a trifle uneasy at the sight of an unauthorized airship floating in the blue right above them.

Canadians have more to be thankful for in the fact that up to the present the modern war dog has not reached them.

If they wish to safeguard Canada from the ravages of war, Canadians should listen to the words of warning uttered by General Smuts, the South African leader, and apply what he says about South Africa to Canada.

CRICKET AND THE EMPIRE

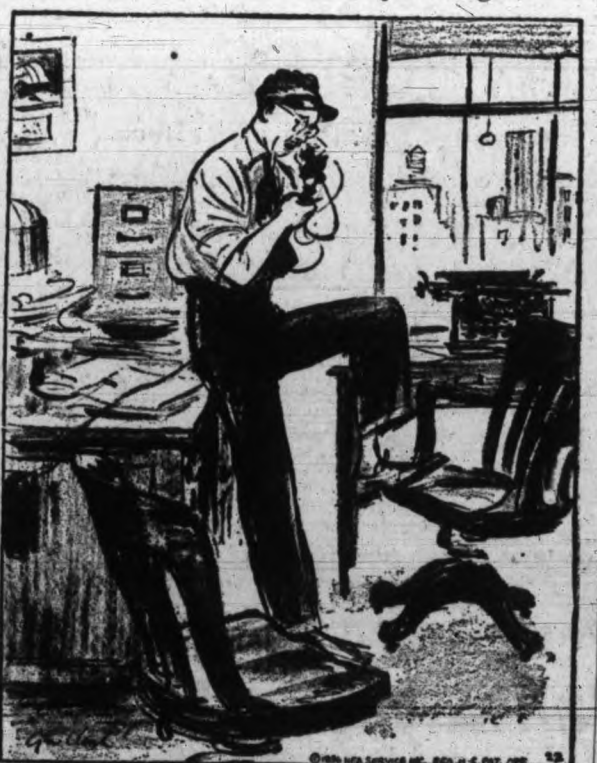

From The Winnipeg Tribune
Cricket is essentially a British game, as Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, and some of the lesser members of the Empire have demonstrated. Even little Bermuda with its population of 30,000 managed to send a first-class cricket team to Canada last summer. The question arises, What about Canada? It may be that up to the present Canada has not been able to put an intra-empire team into the field, owing probably to the fact that she was late in developing the game. She is, however, making strides in this direction; and it may be that sooner or later we shall see a Canadian team testing the prowess of her sisters of the Empire on their own soil.

LINCOLN'S DEDUCTION

From The Argonaut.
You cannot always tell much about a man's religion by his conversation. A man who was once driving Abraham Lincoln to a certain place had a mettlesome horse at which he did considerable cursing. "Are you an Episcopalian?" asked Lincoln. The man said he was not much of any.

CITY'S EARLY HISTORY TOLD

Interesting Historical Side-lights Given to Kiwanians By Dr. Kaye Lamb

The story of the development of Victoria from its founding in 1843 up to 1860, when it already boasted a population of 6,000, was told to Kiwanians at their luncheon yesterday by Dr. Kaye Lamb, provincial librarian and archivist, with many amusing side-lights taken from books and letters of the period.

After telling briefly how the fort was founded in 1843 by the Hudson's Bay Company with the idea of holding the whole island for the British crown in the event of the Canada-United States border being placed at the forty-ninth parallel, as it subsequently was, Dr. Lamb quoted from the earliest descriptions of the city and island.

In 1845, two young engineer officers, from the east, disguised as tourists, came out to the coast on a secret mission looking the ground over in case the decision about the boundary ever became a matter for war.

THIRTY-FIVE MEN
They listed the population of Fort Victoria as "Men, thirty-five; horses, seven; cattle, twenty-three, and hogs, one." "The position," said their report, "has been chosen solely for its agricultural advantages. It is poorly adapted as a refuge for shipping or for defence."

This same emphasis on the agricultural nature of the community was placed by Paul Kane, an artist who came here in 1846, and who was responsible for the first picture of Fort Victoria. Kane on his return to Ontario influenced Walter Moberly, who got an obsession of the idea of a transcontinental railway, and placed a blaze on a tree in the Rockies long before the C.P.R. was built.

In 1848, Victoria and Vancouver Island first came to the knowledge of the general public in England through a controversy over the possibility of granting the whole island to the Hudson's Bay Company.

In 1849, said Dr. Lamb, Captain Grant and eight men came out to Sooke, which was then the edge of the world, and were the first real colonists. Captain Grant later returned to England and gave before the Royal Geographical Society the first detailed account of the island.

In 1853 the total population of Vancouver Island was 450, with 300 in and around Victoria, which had sixty houses and the Hudson's Bay Company buildings, 125 at Nanaimo and twenty-five at Fort Rupert on the north end of the island.

Five years later, when the gold rush started, 30,000 men passed through Victoria in four months. Dr. Lamb quoted from the first directory published in this city in 1860.

WANT OF FUNDS
It said in part, "Several streets are now metalled, and are passable at all times. . . . A temporary want of funds prevents more being done in this way."

The first tourists to reach Victoria were Dr. Chedoke and Viscount Milton, who arrived here in 1859 and later published a best-seller entitled "The Northwest Passage by Land."

They had taken from June 3 to August 28 to get from Edmonton to Kamloops, and were so dispirited when they reached Victoria that the Hotel de France would not take them in.

"British Columbia not only has a history, but a unique one in two respects," said Dr. Lamb. "It is the last place on the map of the coast-lines of the world to be filled, and the whole transition from savagery to civilization has happened with astounding rapidity. We have a unique heritage because we have the whole process right under our hands."

Dr. Lamb was introduced by Dr. T. W. A. Gray and thanked by Harold M. Duggan.

On the occasion of the centenary of the opening of the first railway line in Canada, the club passed a resolution of gratitude to the railroads for their part in the development of the country. The motion was put by Kenneth Ferguson and seconded by Atwell D. King, after Mr. Ferguson had spoken briefly of old Dorchester, which blew its whistle for the first time exactly 100 years ago, and of the development of rail transportation since that time.

BOY SCOUT NEWS
Boy Scouts and Girl Guides of Marshall, Sask., joined forces to give a play to raise funds for the painting of the local Anglican church.

Uniformed Boy Scouts of the troop sponsored by the Lions' Club of Leamington, Ont., have been on safety duty at street crossings near the public school before and immediately after school hours.

When Hollywood producers sent a party of Indians on location to film scenes of "The Last of the Mohicans" a Boy Scout was sent along, to teach them to make fire as their ancestors did, with the twirling sticks.

With the winning of the Hesketh First Aid flag by the "first aider" team of the 44th Winnipeg Wolf Cub Pack a record was established for such competitions. The contest was the 25th. Since the inauguration of the competition, some 2,000 Wolf cubs between eight and twelve years of age, have given special study to elementary first aid.

A parade of uniformed scouts bearing the flags of all the nations represented in Rotary was a unique and popular feature of the opening night of the North Pacific District Rotary conference at Vancouver.

"The Boy Scout movement can make a worthy contribution to any town. The boys who are interested in scouting are the type who make the best citizens."—A. S. Rennie, Mayor of Oxford, and former Rover Leader of the Tillsonburg, Ont., Rover Scout Crew.

Windsor, Ont., Boy Scouts interested in the making and flying of model airplanes have been appointed to do patrol duty this summer for the Border Cities Aero Club at Walker Airport. On Visitors' days they warn spectators away from incoming and outgoing planes.

As a means of securing funds for purchasing equipment and uniforms, fifty prospective scouts of a new Amherstburg, Ont., scout troop, concluded a well-planned campaign by the Saturday collection of five tons of paper, 1,000 pounds of glass, two tons of old iron and 2,000 bottles. The "junk" was turned into cash at Windsor.

Demonstrating that the alertness of Lone Scouts is equal to that of their brothers of town and city troops, when "Lones" Dennis Austin and Mike Makarenko of British Columbia discovered a fallen tree across a road where it would not be quickly seen by motorists, one at once ran for a saw and axe and the other remained to warn drivers. Their promptness in removing the obstruction possibly averted one or more accidents.

LONE REMNANTS OF A VAST EMPIRE

In the early history of America, France ruled a vast empire that stretched over a great part of what is now the United States and Canada. In the 18th century, that empire began to dwindle, and in 1803, the Louisiana Purchase, the French territory passed to the United States. Today, two little islands off the coast of Nova Scotia are all that remain French in North America. They are St. Pierre and Miquelon, covering only ninety-one square miles in area, and used as a base for French Atlantic fishing.

Prohibition, beginning in 1918, brought activity and prosperity to these rugged islands, when rum-runners found them a convenient base for the shipment of Canadian liquor to waters off the United States coast. But prohibition is ended, and the islands have resumed the lonely, monotonous existence that these little islands force upon them.

St. Pierre and Miquelon have had their own stamps since 1885. Typical of the islands is the stamp shown here, picturing the head of a fisherman.

The former operators were greeted by D. E. Galloway, vice-president of the telegraph company, whose message "Welcome back to the key, gentlemen," followed the opening signals of Dr. J. W. Browning, Exeter, Ont., dean of the old-timers.

Dr. Browning, now in his ninety-fourth year, started telegraphic service in 1856 with the old Georgian Bay and Whitby line, and received dispatches from the Crimean war while an operator in Markham, Ont. Samuel J. Hungerford, president of the Canadian National Railways, called attention to the immense strides made by telegraph since its first days in Canada.

"When you first put your finger on the key it took an individual wire to send an individual message," he said. "Today in this vast hook-up from the Atlantic to the Pacific the main wires which you are using are simultaneously carrying twenty-three other messages; in some cases news dispatches free from the cable heads linking Europe and Asia to Canada, and in others acting as the main arteries of commerce."

Mr. Hungerford found it particularly fitting that the telegraph anniversary should coincide with the hundredth birthday of the first railroad in Canada, the St. Lawrence and Champlain line.

Representing Victoria on the hook-up was F. H. Bashfield, sixty-nine, who entered the service in 1860. Mr. Bashfield told of a newspaper "scoop" in connection with the Alaska gold rush, in which a San Francisco reporter, more resourceful than his competitors, held the only available line for himself by sending out page after page of the Bible while waiting for the news.

After the roll call, the wires were thrown open for chatting, and the old operators joked with their cronies, asked of friends and relatives, and recalled the days when Morse had clicked out messages that became part of Canadian history.

Among the 150 old-timers who heard the keys tapping out the nation-wide messages of actively participating in the ceremony were eight Vancouver men: C. A. Shramper, G. H. Stead, C. H. Daniels, J. Carter, J. L. Lavery and Rev. G. W. Doherty.

From Toronto the greatest representation was made, with twenty-five operators gathered around the key. Montreal was second with twelve. Many of the companies with which the veterans worked in their early days are now forgotten, having been absorbed by the national network.

The key station for the hook-up was in the old Montreal Telegraph Co. building, later the headquarters of the great Northwestern Telegraph Co., at Scott and Wellington Streets. Here the present-day officials and old-timers gathered.

OLD MORSE ROOM
The old Morse room was fixed up for the occasion with an array of sounders and keys on one of the ancient tables. Someone had forgotten to remove the old "rain-adjust" signs from the walls, a warning to operators of years ago that they had to adjust the magnets on their relays in wet weather.

The equipment was the same as the old guard used. There were big, heavy transmitting keys, ungainly-looking relays and sounders and even two old register machines that once printed out dots and dashes on tape before the telegraphers could read the steady clicking by ear.

CENTENARY OF WIRE SERVICE

Cross Canada Commemoration of Telegraph Invention

Thirty-one old-time telegraphers answered a Dominion-wide roll call yesterday afternoon, conversing for an hour over the wires of the Canadian National Telegraphs as the centenary of telegraph experiments by Samuel Morse was commemorated with a hook-up from Halifax to Victoria.

The former operators were greeted by D. E. Galloway, vice-president of the telegraph company, whose message "Welcome back to the key, gentlemen," followed the opening signals of Dr. J. W. Browning, Exeter, Ont., dean of the old-timers.

Dr. Browning, now in his ninety-fourth year, started telegraphic service in 1856 with the old Georgian Bay and Whitby line, and received dispatches from the Crimean war while an operator in Markham, Ont. Declarer Sees Way to Avoid Dangerous Finesse, When Two Short Suits Fail to Break

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

When a bridge player has a choice between a certainty and an even chance, it would seem that he would prefer the certainty, but many don't, and that perhaps is why some people become bridge champions and others do not. The championship type of play eliminates chance.

Mrs. Albert Rockwell, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Bridge League, recently toured the Pacific coast and brought back to me this hand. It was played in one of the qualifying rounds which decided which six Pacific coast players will be sent to the Asbury Park, N.J., summer session of the national tournament of the American Bridge League, set for the week of August 3.

Unquestionably, hearts are a better contract, but when South bid no trump over East's spade bid, North, with his strong hand, naturally jumped to game at once.

spades, and South could see his nine tricks, if either clubs or diamonds broke. If not, there remained the heart finesse as a possibility.

He won the third round of spades, then led three rounds of clubs, and followed with three rounds of diamonds.

Declarer, however, saw that there was still another chance, and played for it, when he found that neither the clubs nor diamonds would produce a fourth trick.

On the third round of each suit,
East failed to follow, and declarer now made the play that assured him of the contract. He put East into the lead with a spade, and East, who had retained two hearts, was forced to lead up to the heart tenace after cashing another spade. A heart finesse at any time would have lost the contract.

FLOWER SHOW
AT WEEK-END

Victoria Horticultural Society Will Stage Annual Event at Willows Park

The Victoria Horticultural Society will hold its thirteenth annual summer show on Friday and Saturday of next week, which will, by the courtesy of the B.C. Agricultural Society, be held in the main building at Willows Park.

In again deciding to hold this exhibition at the Willows, ample space can be given both to the competitive and non-competitive displays, also it will enable all visitors to view the exhibition in comfort.

Over 150 classes have been arranged in the prize list, including flowers, fruit and vegetables. In addition to these competitive classes application for space for commercial displays continue to come in, amongst which are a number from up-island. Further accommodation by growers should be arranged for at once.

A number of the society's challenge cups go up for competition, in addition to extra prizes since the prize list was published. The present indications are that the exceptionally favorable spring and early summer weather will be responsible for an exceptionally fine showing in most of the floral classes. The society included, by popular request, in the floral section, three groups for artistic displays. Three separate color schemes have been adopted, with eight classes in each. In these classes ample scope is afforded the exhibitions to make these displays according to their individual taste.

Intending exhibitors are advised that prize lists can be obtained from all floral stores, or will be mailed on application to the secretary, F. F.

DUNCAN HOLDS VIMY SERVICE

Duncan, July 22.—A short but impressive ceremony in commemoration of the unweaving of Vimy Ridge memorial will be held at Duncan on Sunday by the Cowichan branch of the Canadian Legion.

Members of the legion will parade, wearing medals and decorations, at the legion club at 2.30 o'clock and, headed by the Cowichan district band, will march to the memorial cross for the 9 o'clock service.

The lament, "Flowers of the Forest,"
will be played by Comrade Piper J.
Low; prayers will be offered by Comrade President Rev. A. Blechlagner, followed by hymns played by the band and the "Last Post" and "Reveille" by Bugler Bandman J. Miller.

ROYAL RECEPTION MARRED BY RAIN

Associated Press
London, July 22.—Rain, which drenched hundreds of debutantes waiting to be presented to King Edward, ended a brilliant garden reception yesterday.

Nearly half of the 500 beautifully gowned debutantes had curtsied before His Majesty when the first drops fell on the gardens of Buckingham Palace.

The presentations continued for ten minutes and then as the rain increased, the King ordered the function abandoned.

Those not actually presented qualified for the distinction, however, by handing in their formal cards of invitation.

Former Local Girl Is Wed In Yuma

Miss Elaine Watson Bride of Richard S. Johnson

From San Diego comes the news of the marriage of Elaine Wallace, only daughter of Mr. W. W. Watson and Mrs. Lucille Watson of Vancouver, formerly of Howe Street, Victoria, to Mr. Richard S. Johnson of San Diego, graduate of San Diego Army and Navy Academy, and son of Mrs. P. A. Stevens of San Diego.

Owing to a sudden change of plans, the wedding, which was to have taken place at the home of the bride's grandmother in San Diego, was solemnized in Yuma, Arizona.

The young couple chartered a plane and flew to Yuma, where they were married in the presence of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. W. Y. Hatley, her uncle, Mr. E. N. Hatley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. P. A. Stevens, all of San Diego. A party of their friends motored to Yuma to be present at the ceremony.

The bride wore a smart white tulle, white phantom felt hat with white accessories, the only touch of color being in her blouse of turquoise blue. A corsage bouquet of gardenias completed her costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home in San Diego. The bride's mother and brother, Mrs. Lucille Watson and Arnold Watson, are at present visiting in San Diego, the house guests of Mrs. Watson's mother, Mrs. W. Y. Hatley.

Weddings

DOUGLAS-SIMPSON.
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Telegraph Road, Cobble Hill, on Saturday last, Rev. T. Menzies united in marriage their only daughter, Jessie Laing, to Mr. Frank Clifford Douglas, youngest son of Mrs. A. Seabrook, Duncan, and the late M. J. Douglas of Brighton, England.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a smart navy tailored suit, with which she wore navy and grey accessories and carried a spray of pink and white sweet peas and gypsophylla. Mrs. J. McMeekin of Vancouver, cousin of the bride, as matron of honor wore a blue silk print frock with white accessories, and carried pink gladioli. The bride's mother was becomingly attired in a navy blue crepe frock with grey and white accessories, and both wore corsage bouquets of pink and white sweet peas. Mr. E. Anderson of Duncan supported the bridegroom.

Relatives and intimate friends were present at the service and the reception which followed. The table was decorated with silver vases of pink and white sweet peas and gypsophylla and centred with a three-tier wedding cake made and presented by the groom's mother. The toast was proposed by Mr. W. G. Manley of Cobble Hill.

For going away the bride donned a travel tweed sports coat over her suit. After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Douglas will reside at York Road, Duncan, B.C.

Spectroscope As Beauty Specialist

Associated Press
Cambridge, Mass., July 22.—The spectroscope, "infallible eye" of astronomers, has turned beauty specialist for human complexion.

Used to look at the human skin it finds the causes of blemishes and disease as readily as it identified the substances that make the face of the moon, Mars and Venus.

New use of the spectroscope in medicine was under discussion today at the conference on spectroscopy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It was described by L. E. Gaul, M.D., of the Skin and Cancer Hospital, New York City.

Dr. Gaul said he and his associates had analyzed nearly 22,000 bits of human skin with the spectrophotograph, the instrument that photographs the lines of the spectrum of any substance set before its camera lens. The skin was removed surgically for this spectroscopic examination.

The spectroscope showed that gold, silver and lead distribute themselves evenly throughout the human body.

Examination of the skin of a woman who had been given gold for tuberculosis revealed the uniform way in which gold permeates a human being.

Dr. Gaul told of numerous instances in which the spectrophotograph had revealed skin troubles in children as due to taking throat medicine containing silver.

Tuberculous V.A.—A basket picnic under the auspices of the Tuberculous Veterans' Association will be held for members and their families at Willows Beach, tomorrow, July 23, at 2 o'clock. Is Visiting In London

MISS LAURA DUNSMUIR

This charming new portrait study of Miss Laura Dunsmuir, daughter of Mrs. Robin W. Dunsmuir, 1339 St. Patrick Street, was taken by Pearl Freeman of London. Miss Dunsmuir left Victoria in May for England on an extended visit, and is at present the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Hope, in London.

Society

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber, who returned to Government House yesterday morning after a holiday cruise, were guests of honor at an "after-five" party given by Major and Mrs. Austin Taylor on Monday at their home on Selkirk Avenue, Vancouver. Gladioli and pink sweet peas graced the drawing-rooms where the guests were received. Mrs. Taylor wore a Madonna blue crepe model, the interesting capelet showing inset lace in the three-quarter sleeves, and her large pink hat of linen panama was trimmed with delicate pink flowers at the centre front. Mrs. Hamber was in a smart black tulle of heavy flat crepe, a white crepe blouse revealed by her corset of black, which was caught together with diamante clasps, and she wore a large black hat. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fitzgibbon of Toronto, Mr. A. G. Slaght, K.C., M.P., of Toronto, with his niece, Miss Ramona of Pasadena, Cal., and Senator Frank O'Connor of Toronto, all of whom are coming over to Victoria; Col. Charles W. Villiers and Lady Kathleen Villiers of Cumberland were also there with Col. and Mrs. Reginald Chaplin, whose house guests they have been for some days.

Mrs. W. H. Cross of "Valrose," Uplands, left Saturday afternoon for Seattle where she boarded the plane for Los Angeles.

Miss Helen Mount of Long Beach, Calif., is visiting in the city and is the house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gilson, 2562 Cavendish Road.

Mr. Alfred Marsh of Vancouver, after spending a few days in Victoria, has gone up to Cobble Hill to visit with relatives.

Mrs. Gray of Hollywood is visiting in Vancouver as the guest of her mother, Mrs. E. C. B. Bagshaw, Fernwood Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cameron, Moss Street, have gone over to Seattle where Mr. Cameron will attend the convention of lumbermen.

Mrs. David Dolg entertained at a garden party at her home in the Uplands yesterday afternoon in honor of her cousin, Mrs. A. McLean Macdonell of Toronto, who is visiting here.

Messrs. Ernest and Fred Barber of St. John, New Brunswick, have left for home after a short visit in Victoria with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Winslow, Craigdarroch.

Mr. Ivan Ackery, manager of the Orpheum Theatre, Vancouver, and formerly of the Capitol Theatre, Victoria, is a visitor in the city today and will return this evening to the mainland.

Mrs. E. Gordon of Portland has arrived in Victoria to visit her sister, Mrs. J. D. McEwen, Carrus Street.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the Atkinson-Bond wedding this evening are Mrs. S. Blackburn of Nanaimo, Mrs. Borman of Whinip, and Mrs. Cameron of Vancouver.

Mrs. W. C. Merton, Beach Drive, Oak Bay, who has been visiting Mrs. C. J. Yorath in Calgary for the last fortnight, left the Alberta city yesterday for the coast and is expected home shortly.

Rev. and Mrs. S. Howard announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Allison, to Mr. George Mitchell Miller of Vancouver. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, 2933 Orillia Street, Victoria, on July 21.

Dr. Simon Fraser and Mrs. Fraser, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Brown and Rose, have gone to visit friends in the Sound cities. They will motor to Mount Rainier and expect to be away a week or more.

Mrs. Leslie Macdonell of Vernon, who has been spending a couple of months in Victoria with her mother, Mrs. M. L. McLennan, Vancouver Street, has returned home. Mr. Macdonell came down to Victoria by motor to accompany his wife home.

Mrs. W. Wentworth Wood of Vernon and her daughter, Miss Sonia Wood, who have been visiting Mrs. Wood's mother, Mrs. M. S. Westley, Linden Avenue, left this morning for the mainland to spend a few days at Boundary Bay before returning to their home in the interior.

Mrs. A. O'Meara of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, who has been visiting with Miss Tephi Taylor, the Alcazar Apartments, is now visiting friends at Deep Cove. Miss Taylor has as her guests her sister-in-law and niece, Mrs. H. V. Taylor and Miss Molly Taylor of Vanderhoof.

The engagement is announced of Margaret Kate, second daughter of Mrs. Purdy and the late R. A. R. Purdy of Ganges, and Guy, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham of Liverpool, England, and Salt Spring Island. The marriage will take place in September.

Miss Helen Woodcroft entertained a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Woodcroft, 2426 Windsor Road, yesterday evening in honor of Miss Patsy Watson, who is her house-guest. The evening was merrily passed in games and dancing, and supper was served. The other guests included the Misses Mary and Connie Stephens, Priscilla Wright, Ann Ridewood, Grace Cook, and Audrey Ebert, and Masters Sandro.

Her attitude was when you study, fossils and dinosaur eggs, and think in terms of the long cycles of science, twenty-three years are nothing.

Girl Claiming Chieftain Title

Scottish Heraldic Court Hears Catriona Maclean

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, July 22.—The heather is ablaze.

Sir Francis Grant, known in Scottish heraldry as Lord Lyon King of Arms, is holding his court for the first time in twenty years to hear the claim of a sixteen-year-old girl to bear the arms of a highland chief.

The petitioner, Catriona Louise Maclean of Ardgour, if she is successful, will be the first girl chieftain in Highland history. Her claim is to the "undifferentiated and principal armorial bearings" borne by her father, sixteenth laird and chieftain of Ardgour, the estates of which in Argyllshire total 40,000 acres. Miss Maclean will fall heir when she reaches the age of twenty-one or marries.

Her claim is opposed by her kinsman, Lieut.-Commander Henry Hugh Maclean of Bunsford, Hampshire, male heir, who claims the chieftainship passes at all events firstly to male heirs.

Court arguments are largely abstruse, respondent's counsel urging that in the first place the court has no jurisdiction over chieftainships.

London Sparrows Fed From Legacy

Canadian Press
London, July 22.—It is not popularly known, but sparrows in Victoria Embankment Gardens are heirs and heiresses. They are legatees of the late Mrs. Alexander Angus, wife of a New Jersey business man. She loved birds and used to feed them in the Embankment Gardens.

In Mrs. Angus's memory her husband has set up a trust fund providing a yearly reward for two hotel waiters who fed the birds every day during the months Mrs. Angus was accustomed to stay in London. They carry napkins filled with crumbs to fulfill the trust. This person's duties cease at the end of August.

Mrs. Angus came to London in 1919 to recuperate after a serious operation. She coaxed the birds to eat from her hand at her hotel window. Later she fed them from a deck-chair in the gardens.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

BABIES FED ONLY EVERY FOUR HOURS HAVE A CHANCE TO GROW HUNGRY

There is little doubt but that children fed at longer intervals enjoy the lushest appetites. Even a few bites of food every few hours keep the baby's stomach in a constant turmoil of digestion, thus stifling hunger and the appetite which springs from hunger.

Mrs. W. M. is noticing this appetitelessness in her five-month-old baby who weighs only thirteen and one-half pounds. "I felt her gain was so small that I consulted a doctor. He advised vegetable soup, strained prunes and a calcium preparation to be given between nursings. This results in her eating every two hours and in consequence her appetite is gone."

HOME-MADE BUTTERMILK

"Before she used to have a hearty appetite, now she nurses half-heartedly for only three or four minutes. She doesn't sleep during the day and is fretful. I want to give her buttermilk but our daily supply is of poor quality. Could I make this at home?"

It is possible that you misunderstood the directions. Your baby could have now, in addition to the foods prescribed, cereal and probably a supplementary bottle or two. Your supply of milk is evidently inadequate for her needs and may have been for some time.

In any case, whatever she eats at any meal, whether just solid food or that plus nursing and supplementary bottle, all should be given at the same hours.

GIVE THE APPETITE A CHANCE

If she is fed cereal at 10 a.m. then follow with the nursing and the complementary formula. At 2 p.m. the sieved vegetables, or soup, nursing and bottle. At 6 p.m. the nursing, bottle and cooked fruit. In this way the feedings arrive only every four hours and the appetite has a chance to flourish.

You may make lactic acid formulas at home with either fresh milk or evaporated milk. This would be almost imperative if the milk supply is poor. Why not bring this to the attention of the city or state food or milk inspector? The health of infants and children is so dependent upon good milk that you have a right to enforce its cleanliness.

Leaflets on "Lactic Acid Formulas," "Complementary Formulas" and "Feeding From Two to Nine Months" will be helpful and may be obtained by sending a 3-cent stamped self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldrid of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Girl's Novel Career As Dressmaker To Puppets

Edith Dustman plying an able needle to dress a puppet.

By MARY MARGARET MCBRIDE

Long-haired, glamorous Edith Dustman, aged nineteen, who looks as if she ought to be in the movies or on the stage herself, earns her living as dressmaker for Marlene Dietrich, Greta Garbo, Beatrice Lillie, Joe Penner, George Arliss—or at least for their puppet counterparts.

Although when she was young she wanted to be an actress, Miss Dustman is now entirely pleased with her job and with life in general.

"Mine is the most fascinating work," she declared. "It was just by accident that I got into it. Russell Patterson, who creates puppet 'personettes,' asked me if I could type. I told him not very well, but then I grew bold and suggested that I might help him dress his personettes. You see, I had made all my own clothes and hats from the time I got into high school."

INGENUITY REQUIRED

Puppets are as perverse as people sometimes, Edith says, and once in a while you get pretty sick of them before you finish them. The sickest she ever got was of an angel twenty-four inches high that she dressed in white satin. However, she thinks that her job has helped mold her character by teaching her patience.

"We dress the personettes as the stars really dress in pictures, but sometimes I feel that I could make them handsomer by designing them brand new things," Miss Dustman admits timidly. "I don't like Miss Dietrich in short clothes, for instance. She has a divine figure and you can do so much with a figure like that if you put it in long dresses."

"I work best at night. Sometimes I go on as late as four in the morning when I have something to finish. I usually start out with a color idea. If I get stuck, I leave the problem alone for a while and come back to it. Then it is easier."

"The hardest figures to dress I ever had were six-inch ones for a show window. Two of them had on coats and one a silver fox cape. I had a dreadful time with the silver fox cape. I finally had to dye ermine to simulate silver fox."

WEAR OUT WARDROBE EVERY TWO WEEKS

If there's anything that gets a puppeteer crazy it's not one slightly exaggerated twist of a string and the flimsy gown is hopelessly torn. The wear and tear on the daring black dinner dress Greta Garbo wears in the Hotel New Yorker show troubles Mr. Patterson and Miss Dustman most.

Ordinary wear and tear on the wardrobe of the puppets is alarming. With the best of luck and good management, most of the cast have to be completely refitted every two weeks or so.

Strong materials do not always assure the longevity of a garment. Even such fabrics as velvet, brocade and broadcloth are ruined when they get caught in the strings which are being manipulated by the puppeteer. It's a gamble how many times a week that tiny backless black frock worn by Greta Garbo's miniature is going to be the reason for her understudy to go on in the star's role. For, in the event of a torn skirt, or some such catastrophe, Greta has to go into the workshop until she's fit for public appearance again.

The careers of the male puppets are somewhat more dependable, though their wardrobe mistress finds them harder to dress. Inasmuch as they are more substantially clothed, however, they sometimes last through the entire run of the show.

ACCIDENTS MAIN DOLLS

Accidents happen on the miniature stage just as they do in real life, even more serious ones. Hands and feet break off quite frequently, and when they do the actor is seriously laid up and out goes the understudy. For, as on the real stage, the show must go on. The strings are the major cause of most of the casualties. Each puppet has about fourteen strings that the puppeteer overhead operates.

These strings, which are made of eighteen-pound tested silk fishing line (but even these wear out) are constantly getting caught in the clothing.

Claims Ritual Imparts Youth

Canadian Press
London, July 22.—A modern utopia for women was pictured here recently when "shots" depicting life in the palace and state schools of the Rajah of Aundh, ruling prince of one of the states in the Bombay Presidency, were shown.

Shown for the first time in Europe at the British Film Institute—the film depicted the Rajah, his family and subjects going through the ritual Surja Namaskars, which is banishing old age, pain, disease and worry from his realm. He is seventy years old and has not even had a cold in twenty-eight years.

His Rane, aged thirty-six, with eight healthy and beautiful children, looks like a girl of sixteen. Another actor in this "fountain of youth" film was a sixty-year-old mother of ten children, who had suffered all her life from rheumatism and superfluous fat.

She began the ritual in 1925 and now is in perfect health. "The effect on women is even more astonishing than on men," said the Rajah. "Our women age very rapidly, but now they can keep the vitality and beauty of their youth to an advanced age."

Surja Namaskars is simplicity itself, as the Rajah explained it, and takes only five minutes to do. The hands are put flat on the floor in a bending position and are kept fixed throughout the cycle of ten positions. Three breaths only are taken during the cycle. No equipment of any sort is required.

He is touring farms in England, Scotland and Ireland, photographing farm processes. "I intend to educate my people by showing them these films," the Rajah said. "We shall have talkie equipment to make them perfectly clear."

He will also take home instructional films as part of his complete curriculum and to teaching swimming and other sports.

Vancouverites At King's Reception

Canadian Press Cable
London, July 22.—Miss Daphne Arkell of Vancouver, who was presented to the King at yesterday's garden reception, wore a dress of white striped organza over shiny white satin. She had a white jacket of the same material with short puff sleeves.

Mrs. Reginald Arkell of Vancouver, also presented, wore an ankle-length dress of orchid-colored triple tulle with a twisted belt of satin and a white jacket of the same material with full three-quarter length sleeves.

DIES AFTER CHARITY DANCE

Worcester Park, England (Canadian Press).—Barbara Hewitt, eleven, collapsed on the stage in a charity performance and died shortly afterward. The show went on, the audience being unaware of her death.

Attunes Musical Guinea Pigs To Masterpieces

Mme. Olga Stokowski Conducts Interesting Experiments to Make Musicians in Truest Sense

By MARY MARGARET MCBRIDE

The best stroke of business they ever did for themselves was when they consented to become "guinea pigs" for an experiment that, if it spreads, will make musicians in the truest sense.

That is the exultant conviction of three prominent New York women, who, before they became musical "guinea pigs," hardly knew one note from another. The three are Mrs. Theodore Steinway, wife of a member of the famous piano manufacturing company; Mrs. William Francis Gibbs, daughter of Paul D. Cravath, chairman of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Mrs. Philip Hofer, granddaughter of the philanthropist August Heckscher. Olga Stokowski, founder of the Layman's Music Courses, conceived the idea of picking out the worst ears she could find to serve as her guinea pigs in an attempt to prove that any ear can be developed musically.

WORST EAR ISN'T HOPELESS

"Madame" (the musician is Madame) to all her pupils and friends: "Madame insists that she has yet to find a hopeless ear," declares Mrs. Steinway, who claims that she was the worst of the guinea pigs. She was also the first.

"If Madame struck a note on the piano and then struck the same note an octave higher, I could not tell which was high and which was low," Mrs. Steinway explains. "My ear was really terrible, and I knew nothing whatsoever about music. I had married into a musical family and for a while I sat back quietly and listened and tried to pick up something of the understanding that seemed to mean so much to my husband. I really tried to learn. I read books about music and I went to innumerable concerts. And I was bored."

"I was the ideal guinea pig. Today music is one of the most important things in my life. I know what I'm listening to. And when I talk to musicians they are genuinely amazed at the solid knowledge I have of the music I hear."

OTHER "KNOW-NOTHINGS"

Mrs. Hofer and Mrs. Gibbs are no less enthusiastic. Beyond a few months of forced piano practice as a child, Mrs. Hofer knew nothing of music and enjoyed it even less. Mrs. Gibbs had studied piano as a child—"but just piano—not music," she explained, "and it was nothing but a daily grind for me."

MME. OLGA STOKOWSKI

"One day a friend asked me why a symphony was divided into movements, and I could not answer her. I knew symphonies were divided into movements, but had no idea why. I decided to find out a bit about music and about listening to music. I took Madame's initiation course."

Then her father, Mr. Cravath, head of one of the greatest musical organizations in the world, decided he needed the course. Today in his seventies he has decided that he wants a course on listening to modern music and it is the only thing in the whole of his life that his daughter has known him to let interfere with his afternoon nap.

Marshall Field, head of the Philharmonic Symphony Society, is another figure in the music world who is one of Madame Stokowski's most ardent pupils.

FOUNDED THREE YEARS AGO

The Layman's Music Courses founded but three years ago, have spread throughout the country and developed to tremendous proportions. In addition to numerous groups in New York, classes are given in Washington, Scranton, Philadelphia and in cities as far distant as Denver and Los Angeles. This winter classes were organized in Florida.

There are night classes for department store workers and factory workers, as well as day classes for those who have more leisure. Madame Stokowski's staff is made up of trained musicians who worked with her in her Juilliard laboratory.

Some of the other well-known persons who are taking the Layman's Music Courses are Mrs. Jascha Heifetz, wife of the violinist, who she was Florence Vidor, the movie star, Mrs. Fritz Reiner, wife of the conductor, and Mrs. David Sarnoff, wife of the president of R.C.A.

It was ten years ago that Madame Olga Stokowski, looking about at crowded concerts, realized that a discouraging number of the audience really knew nothing about the music that was brought to them. From time to time they enjoyed some small emotional thrill, but their actual knowledge of what they heard was as a few quiet moments in which to plan a wardrobe. She determined then to make what she calls "active listening" possible for every concert goer.

GET 3-WAY ECONOMY

By choosing a dependable Oldsmobile

FOR DEPENDABLE, low-cost motoring you cannot do better than invest in an Oldsmobile—"The Car That Has Everything." It will save you money in three ways.

1. SAVE ON GAS AND OIL. Owners will tell you that Oldsmobile gives them "more miles per gallon" than former cars which cost them less—and that Oldsmobile is remarkably thrifty on oil.

2. SAVE ON UPKEEP. Oldsmobile's quality engineering and fine-car features mean low-cost maintenance and freedom from repairs. The Seamless Steel Turret Top needs no re-conditioning. Knee-Action Wheels absorb shocks that ordinarily take their toll in wear and tear. And you'll find that the Oldsmobile engine requires only the minimum of servicing.

3. SAVE ON DEPRECIATION. So famous is the Oldsmobile for dependability and long life that it commands a high resale value. This fact represents another substantial saving to you.

You'll always be glad you chose an Oldsmobile—so come now for a trial drive in a spirited Six or Straight Eight. Through the General Motors Instalment Plan you can obtain monthly payments to suit your convenience.

"The Scroll Of Valor"

By W. W. MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Not even the naval battle of Jutland exceeds in controversial elements the protracted series of actions fought in the Ypres Salient in the summer and autumn of 1917, and grouped under the one general head, "Passchendaele."

For the horrors and the tragedies of Passchendaele, in which nearly 250,000 British soldiers lost their lives—almost 25 per cent of the total death casualties of the whole war on all British fronts—the politicians have for nineteen years blamed the army commanders. And the soldiers have blamed the politicians. In a bitter quarrel which can never be composed, it is less distressing to recall those acts of bravery accomplished by Canadian soldiers at Passchendaele in spite of the politicians, and frequently in spite of the obliquities of army commanders.

Nine Canadians won the Victoria Cross in the four engagements in which the Canadian Corps participated at Passchendaele. They were: Capt. G. R. Pearkes, 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles; Lieut. Robert Rankin, 43rd (Winnipeg) Battalion; Pte. C. J. Kinross, 49th (Edmonton) Battalion; Lieut. H. McKenzie, Canadian Machine Gun Corps; Sgt. G. H. Mullin, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry; Corp. Colin Barron, 3rd (Toronto) Battalion; Pte. J. P. Robertson, 27th (Manitoba) Battalion; Pte. T. W. Holmes, Canadian Mounted Rifles; and Lieut. C. P. J. O'Kelly, 52nd (New Ontario) Battalion.

In no action or series of actions in the war do the particular acts for which these nine men were awarded the coveted honor parallel each other so closely. Their stories tell of platoons and companies held firmly in the mud, raked with machine gun fire from concrete emplacements, and of gallant souls essaying alone to attack and silence the enemy gunners with bomb and rifle.

Some gave their lives to ensure the safety of their comrades; others, happily, survived. It is said the memory of brave deeds can never wholly perish, and to recall the supreme sacrifices made at Passchendaele is to understand something of the elements which go into the composition of man.

AMiens was, however, a series of actions, all co-ordinated to the one end, but continuing for nearly two weeks. In these engagements Canadians distinguished themselves and no fewer than ten infantrymen were awarded the Victoria Cross for their bravery. These were Sgt. R. L. Zengel, 5th (Saskatchewan) Battalion; Corp. F. G. Coppins and Pte. A. Breton, both of the 8th (Winnipeg) Battalion; Pte. J. B. Crook and Corp. H. G. Good, both of the 13th (Montreal) Battalion; Lieut. Jean Brabant, 22nd (French Canadian) Battalion; Pte. Thomas Dineen, 42nd (Montreal) Battalion; Sgt. R. Spall, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry; Lieut. J. E. Tait, 78th (Manitoba) Battalion; and Corp. H. G. B. Miner, 58th (Central Ontario) Battalion.

The story of these heroic Canadians spans the whole fortnight which the Canadian Corps put in at Amiens, a story of individuals dashing recklessly against overwhelming odds, of the saving of life under fire, of exemplary bravery, leadership, initiative and resource. All the qualities of which man is compounded entered into the acts which prompted these youths to face certain death on behalf of their comrades, to sacrifice themselves, as five of them did, for the sake of men around them.

Whether the story embodies the reckless hardihood of Corp. Good, who, with three comrades, charged a German artillery battery in Hangard Wood, or that of the Danish-born Dineen, who five times charged and overcame German machine guns and their crews near Damery, it is a story of great gallantry and of the highest honor that can be given in attestation of such.

GERMAN LINER HAS BIRTHDAY

New York, July 22.—Marking another anniversary—his seventh—the liner Bremen, commanded by Commodore Leopold Ziegenhein, sailed last Friday for Cherbourg, Southampton and Bremen, with more than 2,000 passengers, thus maintaining the passenger record set during the past month by the famous liner and her sister ship, the Europa.

On the long list of notables the Bremen carried were Edsel B. Ford, son of Henry Ford and president and treasurer of the Ford Motor Company; who was accompanied by Mrs. Ford and their two sons, Henry Ford 2nd, and Benson Ford; Colonel William May Garland, of Los Angeles, senior member of the International Olympic Committee, who is taking the Olympic Games flag to Berlin, with Mrs. Garland; the Hon. Henry F. Fletcher, former National Chairman of the Republican Party, and Mrs. Fletcher; Robert Tyne Jones Jr. (Bobby Jones) of Atlanta, former golf champion, and Grantland Rice, noted sports writer and commentator, who are en route to the Olympic games; Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Rice; Morgan Adams, president of the Mortgage Guarantee Company of Los Angeles, who will sail a yacht in the six-metre Olympic race at Kiel, accompanied by Mrs. Adams, their sons, Morgan Adams Jr. and James H. Adams 2nd.

Also sailing were Russel Colt, former husband of Ethel Barrymore, who was accompanied by their daughter, Miss Ethel Barrymore; and Mrs. Gustav Stresemann, widow of the former German Foreign Minister, who has been visiting here for the past month; the Baroness Ilona von Schilling von Cannstatt; Dr. Thomas Boggs, of Baltimore, president of the Society of American Physicians, accompanied by Mrs. Boggs; Ray Henderson, press representative for Katharine Cornell, who is going to the music festivals at Bayreuth, Munich and Salzburg; William S. Leeds of Atlanta, who made the first westward North Atlantic crossing of the Hindenburg, accompanied by Mrs. Leeds; Constantine Brown, of the Washington Evening Star; Mrs. Donna G. Bridgidi, wife of the Italian Consul at Montreal, accompanied by her daughter, Mlle. Pia Bridgidi.

Pacific Northwest Golf Trail Starts Tomorrow At Vancouver

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

STRENGTH of the United States track team for the Olympic games next month at Berlin is clearly evidenced by the fact that five world record holders failed to make the grade. That gives one an idea of the calibre of the athletes who will seek honors for the United States against the world's finest amateurs. It is one of the most powerful teams ever to represent the Americans—and should keep the unbroken string of victories intact. Here's the champs who failed to win at the recent trials.

Ben Bakman, the world record holder, regarded a short while back as the outstanding 800-metre man. Bill Bonthron, holder of the world mark for 1,500 metres, finished fourth and out of the money. George Varoff, young San Francisco junior, who established a new pole vault record of 14 feet 6 1/2 inches, faltered when the big test came. Walter Marty, who held the outdoor high jump mark before Cornelius Johnson and Dave Albritton came along, and Ed Burke, who held the indoor mark, failed to come through as expected.

Since his great victory over Babe Risko to win the world middleweight boxing championship Freddie Steele, Tacoma glove thrower, has been besieged with offers to defend his crown. And strange enough a number of the fellows who want a shot at his title are ones who steered clear of the Tacoma lad when he was seeking the title. Here are some of the challengers:

Lou Brouillard, French-Canadian, and former holder of the title, Steele has been offered $25,000 to fight Lou at Boston.

Teddy Yareos, who lost the title to Risko. This chap repeatedly turned down offers to meet Steele when he was champion. Now the situation is reversed.

Ken Overlin, the former sailor, being managed by Jack Dempsey. Rumors have it Steele may agree to a match with this battler.

Young Corbett, former welterweight champion, who would not listen to a match with Steele when he was tops.

Swede Berglund, San Diego, who gave Steele quite a bit of trouble in a recent match.

Gorilla Jones, colored boy who gave Steele lots to think about in former fights, is attempting a comeback.

After nearly a clean sweep in British prize money golf tournaments, big Alfred Padgham, newly-crowned British open champion, looks wistfully at the "rich" rewards harvested by United States professionals. Victor in five major tournaments, thereby setting up the greatest competitive record Britain has seen in many years, Padgham won only $6,075 for all his work—and his biggest triumph, in the open, netted the smallest return.

The open title, once valued by Gene Sarazen at $100,000, carries with it a cheque for only $500, and the additional revenue to be reaped on exhibition matches, advertisements and teaching, totals about the same amount—at least to a British winner. Sarazen this year estimated the potential value of the open crown at $50,000—if he had won it. But he was counting on gleaming triumph in that sum through an exhibition tour of Australia. Padgham probably won't profit by a twentieth of that.

"The hard truth," says Geoffrey Simpson, sports columnist of the London Daily Mail, "is that the British open championship is worth less to a Britisher than to an American."

Why? The answer brings out a variety of contrasts between the two countries. In the first place, British athletes have a brief "shining hour" in the limelight. They are not idolized, no matter how great their achievements, nor ballyhooed on anywhere near the scale of such American as Jack Dempsey, Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones, or Bill Tilden.

Perhaps more important, from Padgham's financial outlook, British crowds fail to patronize exhibition tournaments featuring the new champion—and British advertising firms refuse to pay fat fees for the champion's endorsement of their products.

Last, but not means least, the British pro after winning a big title is not offered highly-lucrative posts at fashionable country clubs as in the United States.

Field of Eighty Is Expected; Will Come to Victoria For Play Next Week

Harry Cooper Is Slated to Play

The big guns of North American golf and some of the smaller ones, too, will boom out over the rolling fairways of the Shaughnessy Club course at Vancouver tomorrow as the first of the Pacific Northwest's golf trail tournaments for a $5,000 prize, gets under way.

With between thirty and forty United States shotmakers from coast points as far south as Los Angeles already on the course warming up, the arrival of some nineteen well-knowns, fresh from the St. Paul, open today, and a sprinkling of Vancouver talent will make up the field of eighty expected to take part in the classic.

FAMOUS PLAYERS

Included in the party of stars which arrived at the mainland city today were Tony Manero, United States open champion; Gene Kunes, Jimmy Thomson, recognized as the longest hitter in the world; Horton Smith, a wizard on the putting greens; Byron Nelson, U.S. metropolitan open champion; Lawson Little, former British and United States open champion; Ray Mangrum and others.

"Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, winner of the St. Paul open, and Dick Metz, who was beaten in the playoff, were expected to arrive late today or early tomorrow, to compete in the tournament.

FOUR TOURNAMENTS

The Vancouver tournament, which lasts three days, will be the first of a series of four events with purses totaling $18,000, and the evergreen golf tour will end with a tournament in Portland, August 7, 8 and 9.

Victoria golfers are reminded that the entry list will close tomorrow with Secretary J. V. Perks. Amateurs are limited to ten handicap.

On Saturday the Oak Bay course will be open to competitors for practice rounds, while on Sunday it will be open to club members and visitors.

ISLAND CLUBS DISSATISFIED

Seven Football Squads Seek Change in Control of Game in Province

Vancouver, July 22.—Dissatisfied with the present form of soccer control in British Columbia, seven Vancouver Island football clubs have decided to have all other clubs in the province questioned as regards their stand towards the present set-up. It was learned here today.

The decision was made at a meeting of the seven clubs at Duncan recently, according to a letter reaching here from the secretary of the meeting.

The seven clubs will ask the British Columbia Soccer Commission to circulate all other clubs in the province asking if they favor the present soccer commission control or the British Columbia Football Association which operated prior to the new set-up.

The present soccer commission was installed two and a half seasons ago. The seven island clubs represented at the meeting were the Esquimalt Football Club, the Victoria West Football Club, the Victoria City Football Club, the Saanich Football Club, the Duncan United Football Club, the Nanaimo City Football Club and the Southside Football Club.

The clubs claimed a more democratic form of control was needed in British Columbia.

Night Tennis At Vancouver

Vancouver, July 22.—Something new in the Canadian sport world—night tennis—will be inaugurated on five Stanley Park courts here next month, tennis officials announced yesterday.

With the opening of the electrified courts, Vancouver will have the only lighted public tennis courts in Canada or the Pacific northwest, officials said.

BALL SCHOOL IS STARTED

Instruction in Victoria's First Baseball School Gets Under Way

Victoria's first baseball school, sponsored by the Victoria Athletic Club, opened this week with seventy-nine on the enrollment list and with many more expected to join up in the near future.

It is expected that the course of instruction will last about a month, and expert coaches will be on hand during that time to give the boys pointers in all departments of the game. The school is divided into four sections—catchers, pitchers, infielders and outfielders. Each group has its own instructors, the total coaching staff numbering sixteen.

Classes are held twice daily, at 10 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, except Saturdays.

Officials of the club said they expected the attendance to go beyond the century mark. In addition to the class training work, league games are being organized for the boys according to their ages. Each school afternoon physical training classes will be held with Constable Louise Callan as instructor.

The school is open to all boys up to eighteen years of age. Registrations may be made at the Athletic Park any day this week.

FOUR BOUTS ARE SLATED

Local Wrestlers to Meet in All-wrestling Card Friday at Athletic Park

Four bouts that will see local wrestling talent participating, is the programme for Friday evening's all-wrestling card to be presented by the Victoria Athletic Club in the open-air ring at the Athletic Park. The opening bout will be at 8:30 o'clock.

Reggie Hopkins and Bill Steen, colorful local grapplers, will exchange grips in the top-notch bout on the attractive card. They will meet in the 135-pound class, and will be fighting over the route of four six-minute rounds, or the best two of three falls.

Clever Chinese exponents of the groin and grunt pastime, George Lowe and Bing Quon, are slated for the semi-main attraction of four five-minute rounds. These two youngsters are great favorites, and put on a good show.

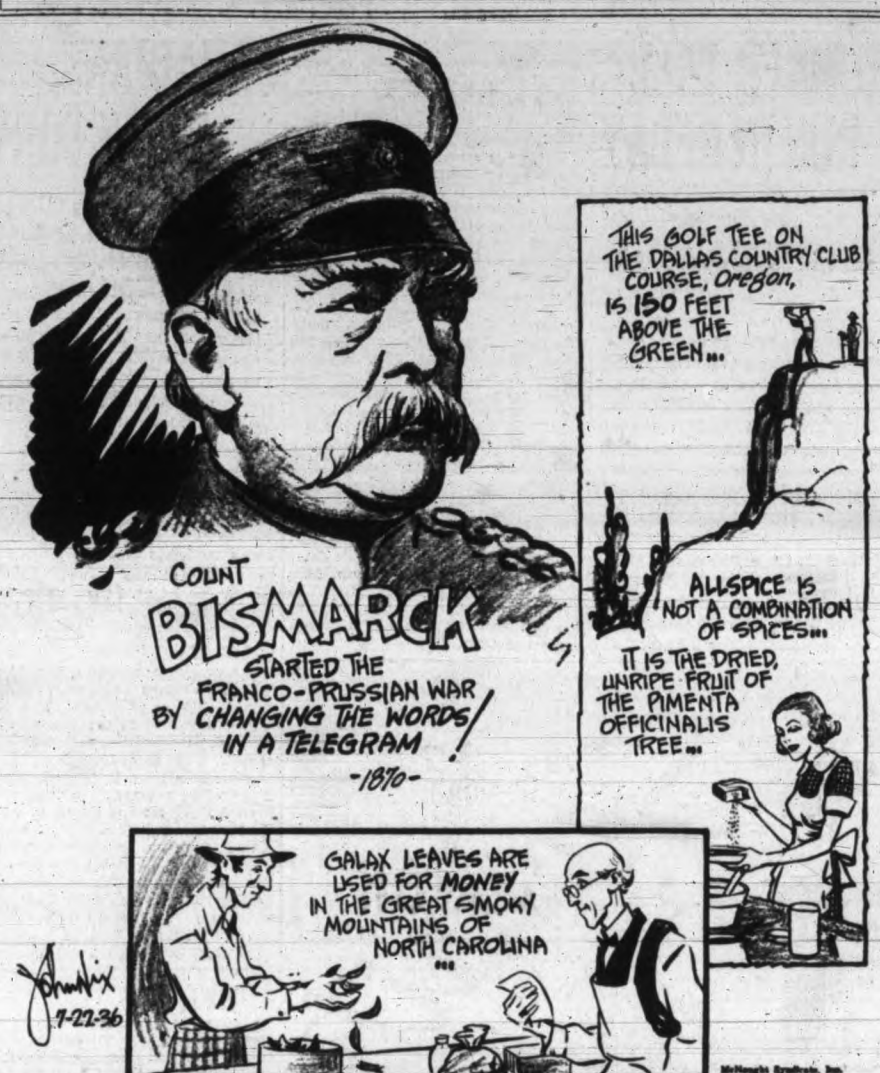

Al Garriot and "Bud" Kirchin, 140-pound grapplers, will do their stuff in the special event. Both are of the rough and ready type and like to mix freely.

The opened will see Alex Gardiner and Jack Lacey come to grips. Lacey has not appeared for some time, but was always a favorite of the fans when fighting at Mount Stephen, as was his opponent Gardiner. This match will be over the route of four five minute rounds at 130 pounds.

Matchmaker, Louis Callan, announced yesterday he is lining up a good boxing card for Navy week, and extends an invitation to army and navy boxers who would like to appear.

LEAF STANDARD

Ordinary money is practically unknown in some of the more remote districts of the Great Smoky Mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee. In order to establish some medium of exchange, the natives of this region decided upon the use of their most stable product, the leaf of the galax plant which they actually use in place of money to this day. The galax leaves are extensively used for decorative purposes, especially for wreaths and Christmas greens.

WARORAM

Upon the abdication of Queen Isabella of Spain in 1870, it was announced that Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern had consented to be a candidate for the vacant Spanish throne.

As Leopold was related to the reigning Prussian King, France immediately became worried about the possibilities of their traditional enemy coming to power in Spain and they offered vigorous protest. Leopold then withdrew his candidacy, but the French were still upset.

On July 13, 1870, the French ambassador, Count Benedetti, forced himself upon the presence of the King of Prussia at Ems and demanded a formal declaration from him that the King would allow no Hohenzollern prince to accept the Spanish throne.

The King politely declined to make so binding an agreement and broke off the interview, though suggesting that he had no intentions of allowing a prince of his family to take the position. When the details of the interview were forwarded to Bismarck, he cleverly deleted and changed passages in the telegram, now famous as the Ems Dispatch, and released the altered version to the press. With the changed wording the telegram managed to arouse the feelings of both the Germans and the French, for it sounded to the German people as though the French were making unfair and provoking demands. To the French it appeared that the Prussian King had hinted his intentions to place a relative on the Spanish throne and that he had also unceremoniously snubbed and dismissed the French ambassador, breaking off all diplomatic relations. As a result, war was declared by both governments within a short time.

British Favorites In Davis Cup Final

Appeal to Hold Balance of Power For Series Opening Saturday at Wimbledon Against Australia; Injured Quist Big Problem to Challengers

Wimbledon, Eng., July 22.—Australia, in the final for the Davis Cup for the first time since 1924, will be on her toes against Great Britain, holders for the last three years, when the challenge round starts Saturday.

The Aussies' chances are held to depend mainly on the cure of Quist's ankle, twisted in his singles match with Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, Germany, in the interzone final series just finished.

Quist is Australian open champion and in many hard-fought sets "down-under" has established his supremacy over his veteran compatriot, Jack Crawford. With him on the sidelines and notwithstanding the fine showing by Vivian McGrath against the Germans, Australian chances would be regarded as lowered.

Great Britain seems fairly sure of at least two singles matches through champion Fred Perry, whose defeat by Don Budge, California, in a recent exhibition match is not taken seriously. H. W. "Bunny" Austin, the other singles player, has given evidence lately of being in exceptional form.

The Wimbledon champions, G. P. Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey, who are also the British Davis Cup doubles team, are slightly favored over Quist and Crawford. The Australian pair were eliminated at Wimbledon by the Frenchmen Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon.

Gold Cup Challenger Is Launched in East

Gravenhurst, Ont., July 22.—Harold Wilson's Gold Cup challenger, Miss Canada II, will be launched here today, it was announced by Tom Gravette, president of Gravette Boats Ltd., constructors of the challenger.

This will leave only two days between the launching and the Gold Cup races in Bolton Bay, Lake George, New York.

J. C. PENDRAY SHOWS FILMS

Many See Motion Pictures of South America at Chamber of Commerce

About 250 persons attended a special entertainment organized by J. C. Pendray in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening to secure funds to send Jimmy Todd to Winnipeg to represent Victoria in the Canadian amateur golf tournament and to assist in bringing the 1938 championships to this city.

Mr. Pendray displayed several reels of colored motion pictures, taken by himself on a tour of South America last winter. William Harkness gave a display of mystifying tricks with cards, rope, rings, cigarettes and handkerchiefs.

In showing scenery and customs in the majority of South American republics, Mr. Pendray stated South America was capitalizing scenery, and building concrete highways and railways to attract tourists. Because of abundant night life, casinos and race tracks, such as were unknown in Canada and the United States, Americans were attracted to the republics in great numbers, he said. Mr. Pendray also showed views of New York, Trinidad, Victoria gardens and the recent yacht races.

DEL BAKER IS AGAIN LEADER

Takes Over Management of Detroit Tigers; Cochrane Consults Doctors

Detroit, July 22.—Mickey Cochrane, manager of the champion Detroit Tigers, consulted his physicians today while Delmar Baker again took up the burden of directing the team's fight to stay in the American League race.

On results of an examination for hyper-thyroidism rested the answer to the question of Cochrane's participation in the closing weeks of the pennant campaign. Alternatives were an operation or another prolonged rest cure.

The pinch-manual role is familiar to Baker by this time.

When Cochrane left the Tigers in the east June 10 to enter a hospital and later go to a Wyoming ranch, it was Baker, the former Beaumont, Tex., manager, who filled the breach.

The Bengals immediately slumped into a losing streak, dropping to sixth place in league standings.

Baker, like Cochrane a catcher in his playing days, set about to restore the Tiger confidence.

How well he succeeded despite the initial handicap, is shown by comparative figures.

On June 10 the Tigers had won twenty-nine games, lost twenty-four, were in third place with a .547 percentage. The team batting average was .279.

July 15, when Baker turned the team back to Manager Cochrane in New York, the Tigers had won fifteen, lost twenty, were in fifth place with a .430 percentage.

SEATTLE GOLF TEAM VICTORS

Quartette From Sound City Win Championship at Public Links Tourney

Farmington, N.Y., July 22.—Led by a haberdashery salesman from Washington, a radio policeman and a steel worker from San Francisco and a movie extra from Pasadena, Calif., the sixty-four survivors of a pair of record-breaking qualifying rounds began match play in the national public links golf championship today.

Claude Rippey yesterday came home in seventy strokes to tie Jimmy Molinari, a husky six-footer who patrols San Francisco streets in a radio car, for the qualifying medal. Each had a thirty-six-hole total of 145.

Two strokes behind them came Charlie Ferrera, San Francisco, twice winner of the "poor man's" golf title, and Pat Abbott, curly-haired motion picture performer who won the southern California open title last winter. In fifth place at 148 was Bill Kinkella, who repairs electric signs for a living and who led Seattle's four-man team to a record-smashing victory in the inter-city competition. The Seattle quartette of Kinkella, Warren Campbell, sixteen-year-old brother of the more famous Scotty, Carl John and Harry Umlinetti, scored a thirty-six-hole aggregate of 599 to take the team trophy from San Francisco, which equalled the former team record of 600.

Brunsdon's Boys and Silent Glows Finish Match in 7 to 7 Tie After Eleven-inning Fixture; Glows Ninth-inning Rally Thrills Big Crowd

A ninth-inning barrage of hits that brought them four runs saw Silent Glows come from behind to gain a 7 to 7 tie with Brunsdon's Boys in an eleven-inning play-off fixture at the Athletic Park, for section softball honors yesterday evening.

It appeared that the Esquimalt boys had the game in the bag as the burnermen went to bat in the ninth frame. The fans had conceded victory to Brunsdon's and were commencing to leave. They trooped back quickly, however, when Bill Levy, pinch-hitting for Chuck Turner, crashed out a circuit drive with Lloyd Jones on second.

Before the inning terminated, the Silent Glows batters hammered out an additional pair of runs and tied the score, 7 to 7, to mark one of the greatest ninth-inning rallies seen here for some time. In the tenth inning Brunsdon's got runners on second and third with nobody out but were unable to get a run home.

The first scoring of the game came in the second frame, when Silent Glows sent one man home. Brunsdon's went two better in their half of the session by scoring a trio of markers. The next two frames saw no scoring. In the fifth, however, the burnermen secured four safeties from Palmer and made them good for a couple of tallies to bring the teams into a 3 to 3 deadlock.

Timely home run

Dal Munroe, husky first sacker for the Esquimalt squad came to the plate in the fifth inning with the bags loaded and smashed out a long hit to left field for a home run.

Everything was ready for Brunsdon's until the ninth. Dunc Steer, batter for the Glows, was caught out at first. Lloyd Jones went to bat for Caddell and secured a single, but Lamb, who followed him, was put out at first. Bill Levy, doing the batting for Turner, laced out a homer and Jones and himself raced home for two runs. Excitement at this time ran high and fans began to see some hope for the Glows, who finally tied the score 7 to 7. The game continued up to the eleventh inning, where it was called owing to darkness. Red Palmer was nicked for thirteen hits, and Brunsdon's Boys garnered an even dozen from the slants of Chuck Turner and Lloyd Jones.

The next game of the series will be played tomorrow evening at the Athletic Park at 8:15 o'clock.

VISITORS TO COMPETE HERE

Expect 40 Or 50 Anglers From Port Angeles For International Derby Aug. 2

Forty or fifty members of the Port Angeles Salmon Club will journey to Victoria on August 2 to compete in the "Joker" International Challenge Cup Derby, to be held in Saanich Inlet under the auspices of the Chinook Club of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

This was the information disclosed in a letter from Herb Molchior, secretary of the P.A.S.C. to Stan "Red" Shemilt, local representative to that club in Victoria, today.

It is the intention of the expedition of anglers to leave their home port early Saturday morning, August 1, in five or six cruisers and travel direct to Brentwood. Molchior predicts plenty of good stuff opposition for local rod and reel artists, and in closing said:

"The big idea of our coming over (Victoria) is to return with the trophy, and believe me, if we land it, you will never see your prize silverware in your city again."

"The Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association will stage its fourth of five competitions in the arm on this day in conjunction with the salmon derby. This competition will be sponsored by George Patton. Both events are open to members of the local association. The visiting delegation will be eligible to compete in the derby, but must take out memberships to compete in the other event."

Hubbell Is Victor In Thrilling Duel

Veteran Hurler of New York Giants Beats Dizzy Dean and St. Louis Cardinals 2 to 1; Bartell's Homer in Tenth Breaks Up Game; Yanks Lose Ground

Just about once every year, Carl (Screwball) Hubbell and Dizzy (The Great) Dean hook up in a baseball masterpiece. "The Hub" came out on top in a tight duel with the "Great One" yesterday, with whatever breaks there were going against Dean to make their rivalry over the last three seasons all-even at two wins and two losses for each. "Old Diz" undoubtedly pitched the better ball game yesterday. He gave up only five hits to the New York Giants over ten innings, while his St. Louis mates were getting to Hubbell for nine. He struck out half a dozen batters and walked only two. Hubbell fanned three and passed five.

But Dizzy made the mistake of serving one home-run ball more than Hubbell. The Giants won two home runs to one. Dick Bartell's round-tripper in the tenth broke up the game, after earlier four-baggers by Gus Mancuso and Pepper Martin had tied it up.

MEDWICK TIES RECORD

The battling hero, however, wasn't either of the homer-hitters, for Ducky Medwick stole the show by tying the National League record for consecutive hits. He had made seven in a row Sunday, and added three more yesterday to deadlock the mark at ten. Then he failed in an effort to tie Tris Speaker's major league mark by grounding out his next time up.

The Cardinals' loss put them two full games back of the National League-leading Chicago Cubs, who barely turned back a late Brooklyn rally to nose out the Dodgers 5 to 3. The Pittsburgh Pirates managed to remain in third place by clubbing the Phillies 17 to 6, after overcoming a 5 to 0 deficit. The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Boston Bees 3 to 2.

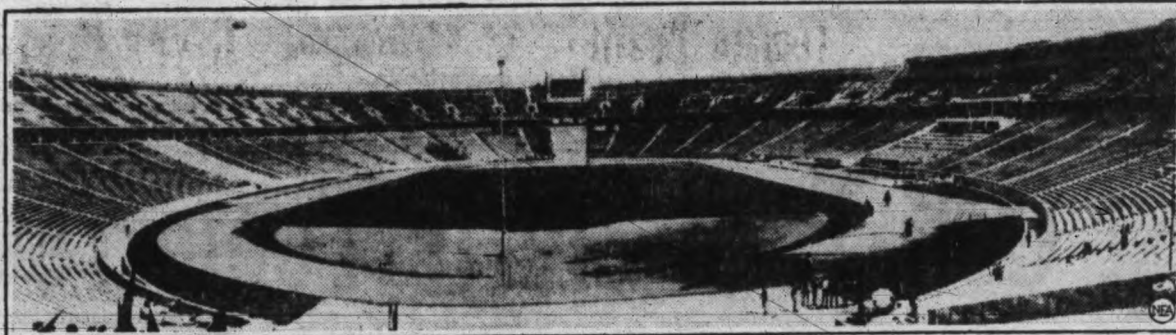

The Cleveland Indians cut the New York Yankees' American League lead to eight games by nailing out the Boston Red Sox 5 to 5, while the Yanks were bowing to the St. Louis Browns 5 to 4. The Browns' win enabled them to come out of the American League cellar for the first time this season.

The Chicago White Sox had their eight-game winning streak snapped as the Washington Senators came through 6 to 5. The Detroit Tigers moved back into third place and dropped the skidding Philadelphia Athletics into the cellar by taking a doubleheader, 8 to 0 and 9 to 8.

HUMBER WILL RUN IN RELAY

Victoria Sprinter on Canada's 400-metre Team For Olympic Games

By ELMER DUMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Aboard S.S. Duchess of Bedford.
On the way to the Olympics, July 22.—Canadian Olympic officials put their heads together yesterday and decided on the three teams that will represent Canada in the relay events at Berlin. After studying form in the trials at Montreal, they matched up combinations that will go after the men's 400 and 1,500-metre titles and the women's 400-metre championship. The Dominion's four best sprinters will take on the job of passing the baton in the 400. The team is made up of Sam Richardson, Toronto; Howie McPhee, Vancouver; Lee Orr, Vancouver, and Bruce Humber, Victoria.

McPhee cleaned up both sprint events at the trials in Montreal, and Humber and Orr ran second and third, respectively, to him in the 100. Richardson did not train for the sprints this season, but he has run 100 yards in 9.8 seconds. He also will compete in the broad jump, and the hop, step and jump.

Johnny Loring, Windsor, Ont.; Marshall Limon, Vancouver; Bill Fritz, Toronto, and Phil Edwards, Montreal, will make up the 1,500-metre team. Loring won the 400-metre race at the trials, and Limon and Fritz were second and third, respectively. Edwards is the Canadian and British Empire champion at 800 metres.

The women's 400-metre relay team will be made up of Dot Brookshaw and Jeannette Dolson, Toronto; Aileen Meagher, Halifax, and Hilda Cameron, Toronto. Miss Cameron, Miss Meagher and Miss Dolson finished in that order in the 100-metre sprint at the Montreal trials, and Miss Brookshaw was fifth.

CANADIANS IN VICTORY

Touring Cricketers Defeat Free Foresters in England By Big Margin

London, July 22.—Stacked up against the powerful Free Foresters eleven, Hon. R. C. Matthews' Canadian cricket team pulled through a sensational ten-wicket victory at Holport yesterday. It was the third victory of the tour to date.

The tourists, who have not yet lost a match in their Old Country visit, batted impressively for 272 runs. Against this total the home players had a moderate first innings of 196, but badly at the second attempt, scoring only 81. The Canadians knocked off the six runs needed for victory without loss.

COAST STARS SHINE

Vancouver players had a great share in the visitor's success. Norman Pearson hit up 63 Monday, and yesterday David Carey made a straight half century before he lost his wicket. W. C. Stott had the Foresters at his mercy for a brief spell, taking three wickets for 10 runs, bringing his total bag for the match to seven for 77.

C. A. Seagram, Waterloo, Ont., and Toronto medium-fast bowler, found the wicket suited to his deliveries and gathered four for 47, while L. A. Percival, another Toronto spin bowler, got two for 8. W. E. N. Bell, captain of Mr. Matthews' team, was the third highest scorer with 48.

The four English first-class players included in the Free Foresters line-up, failed to show their class in the second innings. H. T. Bartlett, Cambridge University, compiled 21; F. R. Brown, well-known Surrey amateur, made 17; Ben Wilson, Essex, could only get 6, and N. Haig of Middlesex 3. The score card:

U.S. STARS ARE WORRIED

American Olympic Swimmers Look For Plenty of Stiff Competition

Aboard S.S. Manhattan en route to Berlin, July 22.—America's Olympic swimmers face the keenest challenges from other nations of any American team.

Bob Kiputh, coach of the men's team, told the Associated Press today the swimmers have "a fifty-fifty chance of regaining the men's team honors lost to Japan in 1932," while Ray Daughters, Seattle, coach of the women swimmers, said, "we have to beat the Dutch to keep the title." "This is no alibi, but the Japanese have benefited by at least six weeks in Berlin becoming acclimated," said Kiputh. "We are unable to gauge our condition while working out for a week with the swimmers harnessed, but a few sore throats have been the only untoward development." Jack Meica has worked especially hard and promises to make a comeback. "The conditioning of the mermals, which loomed as a major problem

Schmeling Makes Formal Challenge

German Seeks Heavyweight Title Fight With James J. Braddock; Posts $5,000 Forfeit; Canzoneri-Ambers Title Bout Further Postponed

New York, July 22.—Developments flew thick and fast along the flitric front yesterday.

1. Max Schmeling formally challenged James J. Braddock for the world championship, and through Promoter Mike Jacobs posted a $5,000 cheque with the New York Athletic Commission as a guarantee of good faith.

2. Madison Square Garden indicated Max Baer will be its nominee when, on July 29, it must come up with a challenger for Braddock's title.

3. The Tony Canzoneri-Lou Ambers lightweight title bout, set for July 30, was again postponed, this time until August 6.

4. Sixto Escobar, American bantamweight king, signed to defend his title against Tony Marino, Pittsburgh, at Dyckman Oval, here, August 31.

Schmeling's challenge came in the form of a cablegram to the commission. Immediately, Mike Jacobs appeared with a certified cheque.

Chairman John J. Phelan said Braddock would be informed of the challenge and the commission's approval, and given fifteen days in which to make known his intentions. If he accepts, he must post a similar guarantee.

Joe Gould, the champion's manager, was present and said unofficially that the German is acceptable to Braddock, but that he would not so write the commission until the Garden has its inning, July 29.

The commission's blessing on Schmeling's challenge took some of the wind out of the Garden's plans for a Braddock-Baer fight if the Schmeling-Braddock meeting does not eventuate.

Earlier in the day, Jimmy Johnston, Garden promoter, said he had approached Baer with a proposal to fight Braddock again, that the Californian is willing and has agreed to the challenger's end of 12½ per cent of the gate.

"We don't know anything about that," said Chairman Phelan. "but Schmeling is the challenger. Haven't we approved him?"

The Canzoneri-Ambers lightweight fight was given another postponement because the Garden insisted all the talk of a Canzoneri-Barney Ross fight had so slowed up sales, another week was needed to steam up the bout.

THE BIG SIX

Luke Appling of Chicago White Sox shot into first place in the American League batting race yesterday, and Lou Gehrig slid all the way to third. Appling got two hits in four trips to the plate to boost his mark to .378, while Gehrig went hitless in three times up and dropped to .376. In the National League trio there were no changes.

The standings (first three places in each league) follow:

Yesterday's homers — J. Martin, Cardinals; Mancuso, Giants; Bartell, Giants; Cucinello, Bees; Jensen, Pirates; L. Warner, Pirates; Selirk, Yankees; Reynolds, Senators; Trosky, Indians; Hayes, Athletics; Dehringer, Tigers; one each.

The leaders—Gehrig, Yanks, .28; Fox, Red Sox, .26; Trosky, Indians, .25; Ott, Giants, .18; Dickey, Yanks, .16; Johnson, Athletics, .15; Goslin, Tigers, .15; Averill, Indians, .15.

League totals — American League, 449; National League, 354. Total, 803.

Recruits Added To Seattle Ball Club

Seattle, July 22.—Levi McCormick, former Washington State college athlete joined the Seattle Indians of the Pacific Coast League yesterday evening.

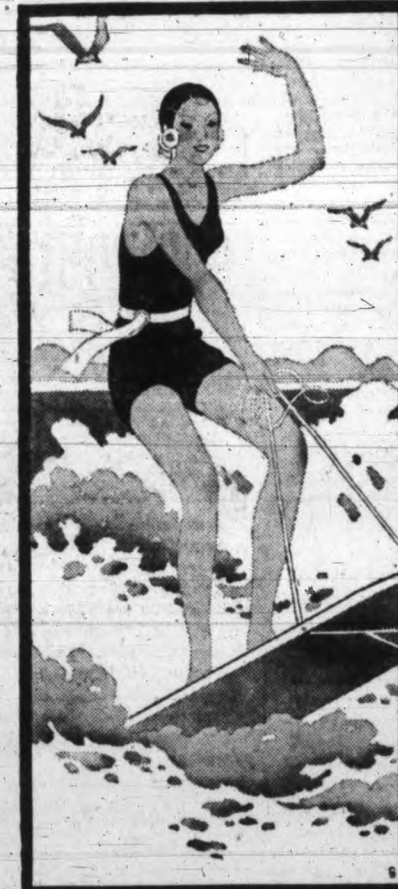

He came here from the Lewiston, Ida., team of the Idaho-Washington League, where he was a league leading hitter and a fast outfielder. Mickey Duggan, catcher for the Edmonton, Alta., club, was ordered to report immediately to the Indians. He has been batting .500.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Directors of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau will meet at the Chamber of Commerce at 3.30 o'clock
Friday afternoon.

The Victoria branch of the Canadian Pensioners' Association will hold its monthly meeting on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

A report received at Provincial Police Headquarters here from Constable McKenney, Terrace, B.C., stated Lloyd Thomas, age nineteen, was drowned yesterday evening in Braun's Island slough. Police state the body was recovered at midnight.

As the provincial Board of Examiners was bringing its work of marking school test papers to an end today, the Department of Education announced that high school entrance results would be made public Friday afternoon and matriculation results on Saturday afternoon.

"Going Abroad Overnight" is the caption of a publicity article in the July issue of The Oregon Motorist, just received at the offices of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.
The article is illustrated by photographs of bowling in Beacon Hill Park, Butcher's garden and Tyee fishing at Campbell River.

Frank Turley has retired as manager of the Imperial Oil office here and is being succeeded by P. E. Corcoran, who was manager here seven years ago and was latterly sales manager in Vancouver. Mr. Turley will continue to reside here. Mr. Corcoran is at present staying at the Strathcona Hotel with his wife and children.

Boat connections with Victoria will be included in the October schedule of the United Air Lines, George J.
Warren, publicity commissioner, is informed in a communication. Harold Cravy, vice-president in charge of traffic and advertising, Chicago.
He expressed the hope that amphibians would one day link up Victoria with the United Airlines services.

There were ten tables of progressive five hundred at the weekly card party of the Victoria West Liberal Social Club yesterday evening. Next Tuesday evening partner five hundred

New Scheme For Tomato Board

Marketing Plan Under Provincial Act Ratified; Price-fixing Permitted

Hothouse tomato and cucumber growers of British Columbia came under a new marketing control scheme this week as the provincial government ratified the B.C. Hothouse Tomato and Cucumber Marketing Board to act with powers under the new provincial marketing act.

The board, reappointed, consists of George W. Riddle and Quan Yuef Yen of Victoria and Murdoch Dingwall of Vancouver. It holds office until August 31. During August a fresh election will be held for the new board which will take over on September 1.

The board, under the new scheme, among other powers, will be able to license producers; to fix price spreads, fix maximum and minimum prices, designate agencies through which goods shall be sold, designate places of delivery, seize goods sold in contravention of its orders and compensate growers for loss through their products being withheld from market.

Only producer-growers are entitled to vote in electing the board which must consist of one white and one Chinese producer-owner from Vancouver Island and one white producer-owner from the mainland. All hothouse tomato and cucumber marketing in British Columbia is covered by the scheme.

W. J. Park, W. T. McArthur and T.
M. Edwards of the Lower Mainland Daily Board visited here today to confer with the provincial marketing authorities on a new scheme for controlling the Fraser Valley milk industry. Details of this were not divulged pending its consideration by the provincial officials.

Fishing Boats Are Protected

Men Defy Strike Orders at Rivers Inlet; Strikers Reply to Pearson

Although an exchange of telegrams between Hon. George S.
Pearson, Minister of Labor, and J. Gavin, secretary of the strike committee, showed no change in the attitude of striking fishermen in inland B.C. waters, reports from Rivers Inlet reaching here today were that crews of seventy boats had taken advantage of Mr. Pearson's declaration that since the strikers refused arbitration those who wanted to fish should be allowed to do so.

The boat went out to fish at Rivers Inlet this morning under provincial police protection.

This was the first major break in the strike which has tied up 2,500 fishermen and 1,000 cannery workers for the last three weeks.

Meanwhile the strikers, still refusing arbitration, according to word received here, have advised Mr. Pearson they intend to present their case to Hon. J. E. Michaud, federal Minister of Fisheries, now visiting the coast. Their delegation will see Mr.
Michaud Saturday, Gavin said, and will "ask for a thorough investigation to place the responsibility where it belongs."

Wires exchanged today on both sides dealt with responsibility for the situation.

TEXT OF MESSAGES
Mr. Gavin, in his message to Mr.
Pearson, said:

"Fishermen consider it unfortunate that your stand is not justified in upholding the C.M.A. (Canadian Manufacturers' Association). Your desire to strike the livelihood of striking 2,000 fishermen and the loss of the C.M.A. places the responsibility on you. As the canners, with your help, have ceased operating, it is imperative that you help the starving fishermen close Rivers Inlet for the duration of the sockeye season so as to clear the river for the returning fishermen to negotiate a decent living from the province's major industry for years to follow."

Provincial officials indicated they were unable to place a clear interpretation on the full text of the wire.

Mr. Pearson replied:
"Your attempt to make it appear that I have upheld the C.M.A. or in any way helped them to close the canneries is the grossest kind of misrepresentation. I have taken no sides in this dispute, but have consistently urged arbitration for which I am doing my utmost. If you have advised your fishermen against this, your responsibility is very serious.
If you desire to let the matter stand until you negotiate with the federal Minister of Fisheries, I can only point out that every day's delay limits the possibility of fishermen earning a living this season."

MR. PEARSON'S COMMENT
In a brief comment on the situation, Mr. Pearson said:

"Obviously the men leading this strike do not want the fishermen to fish this year. What their motives are I do not know, but I am not expressing any opinion on this point. They don't want to arbitrate. Why? The people and the fishermen have the right to ask."

Who's Who At Hotels

"I don't think there is going to be any trouble with the natives because of the Ethiopian war," said M.
E. Coombs, who runs the Dodge Motor Car Agency in Kenya Colony and is on a world tour. "But it might have been different if Mussolini had not won."

Mr. Coombs, who is staying with his wife at the Strathcona Hotel, comes from Nairobi where there are 3,000 white and over 50,000 natives.
Though condoning the result of the Italian conquest of Ethiopia, Mr.
Coombs did not believe that it was right in opposing the League of Nations.

There was no trouble in Kenya Colony though it bordered on Abyssinia during the war, he said. They supplied the Italians with meat.

Among the United States visitors registered at the Strathcona Hotel today were Mrs. R. B. Black, Quincy, Massachusetts; Miss Irene Passador,
Oakland, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Barrette,
Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Douglas, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bomar,
Los Angeles; Mrs. Charles S. Taber and Marjorie, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mc-Curdy, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Waltman and Mrs. O. F. Beall, all of Portland, Ore.; Mr. Stuart Cox, Cleveland, Ind.; and Mrs. C. C. Moore, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. C. J. Moore, San Francisco;
Mr. Ray Spooner, Portland, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Donig, San Francisco; Mr.
and Mrs. B. K. Smith, Houston, Texas; Mrs. Callahan, San Francisco.

Women are traveling alone in increasing numbers, and making exceptionally long trips this season.
Judging by the register at the Douglas Hotel, listed among recent arrivals are Mrs. J. B. Blair, Toronto; Mrs. A.
Pinder and Mrs. C. Murchison, Saskatoon;
Mrs. E. Harris, St. Helen's, Ore.;
Mrs. C. Murphy, Glendale, Cal.; Mrs.
Allan McDonald, Seattle; Mrs. Morton, Tacoma; Miss Cora Lee Danielson and Mrs. J. P. Moss, Los Angeles; Miss Lalave Stewart, Gridley, Cal.;
Miss Eunice K. Peterson, Stockton,
Cal.; Mrs. Ethel Lee, Seattle; Miss Margaret B. Cramer, Los Angeles.

Other visitors to the city staying at the Douglas Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Laubach and sons, Natchez, Miss.; Harry H. Bell, Salem, Ore.; Leonard Gibson and party, Stockton,
Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Kreighen, Springfield, Mass.; Guy Rogers and family, Wichita Falls, Tex.; Mr. G.
M. Martyn, London, Eng.; Mr. and Mrs. George Wehlaus, Indianapolis, Ind.; Walter Ashon and party, Boise, Idaho.

Clement May, world-famous character actor, will reach the Empress Hotel on Friday afternoon from Vancouver. May is known especially for his Dickensian characterizations, in which he has appeared in all parts of the world.

Five New Yorkers were among this morning's registrations at the Empress Hotel. They were: S. Greenblatt, H. M. Aulstern, Mrs. B. Hills and Dr.
Sellers, L. L. Walters. With five other arrivals last night in a tour party conducted by A. Sutton, the largest city in the United States has a good representation on the visitors' list of the hotel today.

California still has its fair share of names on the Empress Hotel list.
Among the latest to join the colony from the south are: Mr. and Mrs.
D. Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. B. W.
Wilkinson, Santa Monica; Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Brown, Alameda; Mr. and Mrs. A. Arola, Oakland; Dr. and Mrs.
L. O. Woodcock, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barker, Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williams, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ehrman, San Francisco.

Miss L. Murphy, Los Angeles; Mr.
and Mrs. M. H. Thompson, Berkeley;

B.C. Draegermen Given Praise

Deputy Mines Minister Lauds Demonstration By Men in Vancouver

High praise for British Columbia's draegermen was voiced here today by Robert Dunn Jr., Deputy Minister of Mines, who represented the provincial mines department at mine rescue demonstrations in connection with the Vancouver Jubilee Mining Week yesterday.

The demonstration, said Mr. Dunn, was arranged by mines department officials with the draegermen teams who came from the Vancouver Island Collieries (Dunsuir No. 1), the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company and the Kimberley Mine of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

A mine explosion was faked in a model mine in Stanley Park and the rescue teams dashed in, saving unconscious men and sealing up sections of the mine presumably filled with gas.

"The men showed splendid efficiency," said Mr. Dunn, "and the thanks of this department are due to them for their interest and competency. They made a big hit in Vancouver."

The co-operation of colliery operators was also appreciated, he added.

MOVIE GROUP IN CHINATOWN

Lower Fisguard Street Location For Opening Shots of New Picture

The movies came to Chinatown this morning as Central Films Limited began production of its sixth picture, "Why Let 'em Live?" The company went on location on lower Fisguard Street at 8 o'clock, and scores of Chinese, from babies to old men, turned out to watch the proceedings.

The camera dolly, a wooden platform mounted on four discarded auto wheels, rolled down its fifty feet of wooden track, following Lyle Talbot, the leading man of the picture, as he sauntered down the sidewalk outside the old Hongkong Shop Suey house. Reflectors made of gold leaf on a plywood back sent a bright light over the star.

The crowd had to be continually herded back to the south side of the street to keep it out of camera range. Soundmen were alarmed at the sound of shuffling feet, as if a tired army marching, coming out on the sound track.

Each time the camera dolly was set in place at the end of its track for the takes Larry Howard, who has acted as stand-in in most of the company's pictures, would take his place on the sidewalk, chalk lines would mark where his feet were, the cameraman would approach with his light meter, and then Mr. Talbot would take his place and stroll down the sidewalk among the crowd of toughly-attired extras.

After this had happened four or five times the sidewalk, chalk lines were heard to remark with chinan enlightenment dawning in his voice,
"Make movie."

DIRECTOR PLEASED

Victoria is a good place to make pictures in, according to Del Lord, who is directing "Why Let 'em Live'."
The light is good, and the cool breeze keeps actors and crew in good working condition. Mr. Lord is surprised at the number of excellent locations to be found around Victoria's streets.

Equilateral Harbor will be used by the company for filming speedboat sequences, and negotiations are under way for the use of the federal penitentiary at New Westminster as a location.

Wendie Barrie, well-known Hollywood star who will take the leading feminine role in the picture, is not expected in Victoria until Monday, according to Mrs. William Austin, business manager.

RAILWAY SYSTEM IS CONGRATULATED

Congratulations of the citizens of Victoria to the Canadian National Railways on the celebration of a century of service in Canada, were conveyed by Mayor Leeming, in a telegram to S. J. Hungerford, president of the railways system, this week.

A reply from Mr. Hungerford was received yesterday and in it he said the company faced the opening of the second hundred years of operation with continuing confidence in the future of the Dominion and the part to be played by railroads in its development.

At its luncheon yesterday the Kiwanis Club also wired its congratulations to the company following the unanimous endorsement of a resolution offering the club's congratulations and appreciation of the company's service to Canada.

PLANE SEARCH FOR BANDITS

Provincial Police Check All Possible Outlets For Escape
From Fort Nelson

Provincial police today were continuing their search by air for trace of the six bandits who last week robbed the Hudson's Bay Company post at Fort Nelson of $32,000 in furs.

Pilot "Ginger" Coote left Fort Nelson
this morning with two officers on a flight over possible outlets for the getaway, and further details of their efforts were being awaited pending their return this afternoon.

Meanwhile, all leads are being checked by police as they spread their dragnets over the far-flung northlands and all assistance is being lent in an effort to round up the bandits who tied up three men at the post while they loaded canoes with the furs and escaped down the Muskeg River.

Withdraw Sale On Lone Bid

Sheriff to Seek Further Instructions on Disposal of Royal Bay Property

When Sheriff H. W. Goggin called for bids for the purchase of the property of the Pioneer Sand & Gravel Company, Royal Bay, Esquimalt, at his office in the courthouse at 11 o'clock this morning, only one bid of $250 was offered and the sale was withdrawn.

The bid was made by P. J. Sinnott, acting for a client. A small group of interested people attended.

After Robert Sangster, deputy sheriff, had called for further bids in vain, Sheriff Goggin said he would have to return the warrant to the court for further instructions.

The sale of the property was ordered by Mr. Justice Murphy of the Supreme Court following court proceedings affecting the affairs of the company.

Seattle, July 22.—Exploding corn starch dust yesterday startled firemen attending the annual conference of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs.
 Dr. David J. Price, Washington, D.C., engineer in charge of chemical engineering for the bureau of chemistry and soil, U.S. Department of Agriculture, shook corn starch through a cheesecloth bag and ignited the resulting dust cloud. It exploded. Wherever there was dust, there was danger of fire and explosion, Dr. Price said.

KILL VIRUS OF INFLUENZA

Two Harvard Scientists Say Ultra-violet Rays Destroy Germs

Associated Press
 Boston, July 22.—Influenza, one of the last unwhipped plagues of civilization, was 8 steps nearer the fate of its sister plagues, smallpox, yellow fever, diphtheria and typhoid today, according to two Harvard scientists.
 They reported yesterday evening they had recovered the influenza virus from the air and killed it by contact with ultra-violet rays.
 Their success came as a series of patient studies over the past five years, opening up a vast field in preventive medicine, whereby the air in hospitals, operating theatres, schools and auditoriums may be freed from dangerous germs, they say.
 The scientists are W. F. Wells, instructor in sanitary science, Harvard School of Public Health, and H. W. Brown, fellow, General Education Board, Harvard School of Public Health.

 When a person sneezes, Dr. Wells said, droplets are expelled into the air. These droplets evaporate instantaneously, but they leave a residue "in suspension."
 If a person has influenza and sneezes, this residue contains the virus.
 The scientists said their experiments proved this virus can drift alive for at least thirty minutes—long enough to go from person to person breathing the air in a room.

PLAZA THEATRE
 Mae West, famous blonde star of Hollywood, and one of the most discussed leading ladies in recent years, is again in Victoria, has the leading role in "Klondike Annie," now showing at the Plaza Theatre.
 This picture has an interesting plot and many scenes made famous in gold-rush days are depicted.

of a twelve-inning victory in the opener of a twelve-game series in Portland.
 Seattle, pacing the Coast League parade, hammered out a 7 to 3 win over the lowly Sacramento Senators, but San Francisco Missions and Portland, other first division clubs, lost their series openers.

The Oaks broke through in the twelfth to trim fourth-place Portland, 7 to 4, while the Missions fell before San Diego, 5 to 4.

Los Angeles continued its drive for a first division berth by winning the league's second twelve-inning contest from San Francisco Seals, 6 to 4, and crept within a game of fourth place.

FINE CAST AT THE CAPITOL

Loretta Young and Franchot Tone Star in "Unguarded Hour"

Loretta Young and Franchot Tone form a new romantic screen team in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Unguarded Hour," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.
 The new picture, filled with romance, drama and mystery, gives both players an excellent opportunity for their talents.
 Moving with lightning speed, the Lawrence Welton production concerns a prosecuting attorney who sends men to their doom—by his brilliant use of circumstantial evidence. When he is caught by circumstances for a crime he has not committed his wife comes to his aid to save his life.
 Both Tone and Miss Young are outstanding in their respective roles as the attorney and the wife.
 Roland Young as the friend of the family, is exceedingly funny, while Lewis Stone is sterling as the head of Scotland Yard.

ATLAS THEATRE
 King Vidor recently took over Edgar Rice Burroughs' Tarzana Ranch in the rolling San Fernando Valley, just outside Los Angeles, and turned it into the largest truck garden in the west as a setting for his production, "Our Daily Bread," which United Artists brought to the Atlas Theatre today.

COLUMBIA THEATRE
 In spite of the fact that "Remember Last Night?" the weird and mysterious Universal screen-play dealing with a series of murders during and after a gay party given by the "fast" Long Island social set, now playing at the Columbia Theatre, is all-American, those on the sets were amazed to hear a steady flow of French coming from the dressing tables. "Investigation revealed that Constance Cummings and Sally Eilers, appearing with Edward Arnold, Robert Young, Robert Armstrong and others in the picture, who had been studying French, were trying it out on each other.

In Second Feature at the Capitol

Jane Withers and Ralph Morgan are starred in the picture "Little Miss Nobody," which is now the second feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

"Ruggles" Coming To Oak Bay Theatre

Tonight at 7 and 9 o'clock Noel Coward in "The Scoundrel" closes its current engagement at the new Oak Bay Theatre. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the most boisterous film comedy which Hollywood has produced in recent years, "Ruggles of Red Gap," will be shown.
 The picture, set in the booming 1900's, shows how Ruggles—won in a poker game in Paris—upsets the little town of Red Gap, U.S.A. when he goes democratic in a big way and becomes a gentleman. Instead of a gentleman's gentleman, Charles Laughton as Ruggles proves himself a master laugh-maker throughout the length of the picture.

DOMINION THEATRE

Packed with thrills, laughs and action, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's melodrama, "Absolute Quiet," is now being shown at the Dominion Theatre. Featuring a cast of notables, including Lionel Atwill, Irene Hervey, Raymond Walburn, Stuart Erwin, Ann Loring, Louis Hayward, Wallace Ford, Bernadene Hayes, Robert Gleckler, Harvey Stephens and others, the picture concerns the adventures of a financier who goes to his Montana ranch for absolute quiet, after a hectic business career in which he has ruthlessly ruined people, socially and financially.

Profit-taking With Fractional Losses On Wal St. Market

MINES GAIN Wheat Quotations Lower Today On Grain Exchanges RAIL BONDS ARE HIGHER

Associated Press
New York, July 22.—After a virtually uninterrupted climb since July 8, stocks generally backed away under profit taking in today's market.

A few merchandise, motor and specialty issues emerged with gains, but most of the recent leaders yielded fractions to a point or more. Transfers went around 1,450,000 shares.

While business and industrial news had lost little of its sparkle, some technicians believed a "correction" was overdue in view of the lengthy advance. The fact that the volume dwindled on the reversal was interpreted by some traders as a constructive factor.

A number of stocks edged into new high territory for the last several years as the active opening. The majority failed to hold their ground. The upheaval in Spain and fresh strikes in France were viewed as a minor restraining influence.

Bonds were irregular, with rails lower. Commodities were mixed. Foreign exchanges were easier in terms of the dollar.

Corn was strong at Chicago, ending up 1 to 3 cents a bushel. Wheat was 1/2 to 3/4 firmer.

What Makes an Ideal Marriage?

Florida Couple Answers Question

A CYNIC HAS DESCRIBED FAITH as the ability to believe something we know is not true. In like manner we might define an ideal as a thing that doesn't exist, but that we spend a lot of time wondering what it would be like if it only were.

We are never weary, for instance, of theorizing about the ideal husband, the ideal wife, the ideal home and the ideal married couple. Fortunately, Heaven in its mercy to undeserving sinners, has saved any man from getting an ideal wife and protected every woman from getting an ideal husband, for who could stand perfection in their mates? And if there is any ideal home it yet remains an undiscovered country, but the ideal married couple has at last been unearthed. It has become the eighth wonder of the world.

This amazing find was made by a foundation, which conducted a questionnaire that was participated in by 45,000 persons in all parts of the country. It was decided that a young Florida couple exemplified the typical American ideal married couple and were entitled to the blue ribbon and the silver trophy.

But interesting as it is to learn of the locating of a pair of real bonafide love birds (that we had all feared were as mythical a species as the dodo or the phoenix), it is even more interesting to learn just what it takes to make a husband and wife an ideal couple.

According to the formula there should be marriage somewhere in the twenties, with the husband a few years older than the wife; two or three children; religious unity of husband and wife; religious training for children; a husband possessing the characteristics of ambition, devotion, affection and a good disposition; a wife possessing the characteristics of neatness, devotion, affection and loyalty; family life with active outside social interests; a home without relatives and in-laws; good personal appearance of husband and wife; good meals and an attractive home; a non-wage-earning wife and one who doesn't interfere in her husband's business affairs; reasonable financial security.

That's all. An amalgamation of all of the charms and virtues, with good looks and a comfortable income thrown in for luck. It is an inspiring picture, but gazing upon it you somehow sense why an ideal couple is classed among our rarer fauna and flora.

For, alas, few there be among young husbands who are ambitious and industrious; who have sweet and sunny dispositions; who keep up the love-making after marriage; who never let their eyes stray after the platinum blondes who work in their offices and who are content to be either companions or gigolos, according as the Little Woman prefers to step out or stay put.

Nor is the world crowded with young wives who prefer a bungalow apron to a chiffon; who can cook like a chef and pinch pennies like a miser; who would rather stay at home and watch the baby sleep than go to a night club, and who never say to their husbands "I told you so" or stick their fingers in his pies.

Anyway, this idea of the ideal couple doesn't come up to my ideal. My idea of the ideal couple is a husband and wife who are good sports who have taken each other for better or worse, and who make the best of it. Each knows the other has plenty of faults, but they laugh them off and love them because they are John's peculiarities and Mary's little ways. They work and struggle and achieve together, and they are never so near each other as when they are fighting shoulder to shoulder. And so they go down the years loving, working, playing, sorrowing, rejoicing together until each has no life without the other.

I think the ideal married couple is one in which the husband and wife haven't talked out on their golden wedding day. They have never got bored with each other. They have never got tired of each other. They have entertained each other through the years and found in each other a sympathetic and amusing and interesting companion.

I think the ideal married couple is one that keeps the love light burning on the altar through all the trials and tribulations of life and all the sacrifices that are inevitable in marriage. For it is love alone that makes marriage worth while. Whenever you find a husband and wife whose romance has never dimmed; who have never seen that they are not as young and beautiful as they were on their wedding day; who are still all in to each other, you have found the ideal married couple.

Uncle Wiggily and the Mole

By HOWARD R. GARIS

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the woodland path one day the wind blew off his glasses.

"Oh, my!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "I hope they don't break!"

He tried to catch them in his paw as they went sailing off his nose, but he wasn't quick enough. Away sailed the glasses and when the wind finished blowing them it very carelessly dropped them down on a stone and they broke all to pieces.

"That wasn't very kind of you, Mr. Wind," said Uncle Wiggily. He hopped along to pick up his spectacles, wishing at least one glass wasn't broken so that he might see out of one eye when you do it."

But the wind was filled with mischief that day and didn't stop to answer the old rabbit gentleman. He hurried along to blow dust in the eyes of old lady rabbit, to blow kites for the boy animals and to bend the trees so they seemed bowing to one another.

SPECTACLES BROKEN

"Both glasses smashed," said Uncle Wiggily as he felt around on the ground near the stone where he had heard the tinkling of broken glass. "Now I haven't any spectacles to wear home. How shall I find my way home when I can't see I don't know. Oh, dear!"

Uncle Wiggily's eyes were very sore that day. He had gone to Dr. Possum, who gave him a pair of special spectacles to wear for a time, but now they were broken and he was lost. He was far from home. Mr. Longears didn't know how he was going to see his way to get there without help for his eyes.

"I know what I'll do," said the rabbit gentleman. "I'll stand here until some one comes along and I'll ask them to lead me home. It's almost as bad as being in the dark. But some one will help me. Some of my own rabbit children may hop along, or some of the animal boys may come from the big game."

So Uncle Wiggily sat down on a stump near the path and waited. The same wind that had blown off his spectacles, rumbled his fur and blew away his hat. His paws were dirty as he used them to feel around in the dust to pick up the frame of his broken glasses. And his clothes were dusty and dirty.

Soon Uncle Wiggily heard the voices of some animal children as they came toward him.

"Will you please lead me home?" he asked. "The wind has broken my glasses, my eyes are sore and I can't see. Please take my paw and lead me along to my hollow stump bungalow."

WOULDN'T HELP HIM

"Oh, come on! Run quick!" cried a little girl animal's voice. "It's an old tramp rabbit and he's just saying that to fool us. Don't go near him. Come on!" So the animal children, not knowing Uncle Wiggily, wouldn't help him. Poor Mr. Longears didn't know his way to get home, but they wouldn't. Really Uncle Wiggily did look like a tramp rabbit, but he didn't know that. No one seemed to know him.

"Will you please lead me to my bungalow?"

"Of course I will," was the answer. "Stoop over and take hold of my tail. I can't see you but I like your voice and I'll lead you home."

"Who are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for he couldn't see.

"I am the mole," was the answer. "I came up out of my burrow to get a little fresh air. I am blind. I have no eyes at all. But I can easily smell my way to your burrow. I know it well. I pass it every day."

So Uncle Wiggily took hold of the blind mole's tail and the mole, which is a little animal like a large mouse, led the rabbit gentleman safely home. And if the mole doesn't turn upside down so the hydrant can't play hop-scotch, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the jumping rope.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1936

Conflicting planetary aspects are active today, according to astrologers, and contribute to a perplexing and uncertain point of view in public and private matters.

In both agriculture and industry unrest and discontent may be increasing secretly, for Saturn frowns upon workers. Subversive influences may be widespread.

Wise women will stay in the background in business and politics until this configuration passes. Many antagonisms will be apparent on the part of men who desire to win personal recognition and success.

There is a good sign for newspapers and their contributors. Writers are to enjoy many profitable opportunities in the coming month.

This is an auspicious date for signing legal papers and especially contracts or leases. It is favorable to bankers and to dealings with those who control capital.

It is a promising time to seek support from men who exercise any sort of authority and should be lucky for those who desire favors or ask for appointments.

Under this planetary government, it may be criticized for the summer bathing suit fashions, for the stars encourage lack of what was old-fashioned modesty and a worship of ancient ideals regarding the human form.

Impetuous notions and later regrets will be numerous in the coming week, when youth will assert itself in reckless romances. Girls should be on guard against foolish sentimentalities.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the security of a year of events that require unusual caution in handling. Financial affairs should be promising, but they may present certain difficulties.

Children born on this day probably will be orderly. Subjects of this sign usually look after details and are in most things thoroughly dependable.

Albert Shaw, editor and writer, was born on this day, 1857. Others who have celebrated their birthdays on July 23 are: Christopher Adams, biologist, 1873, and Francois Eugene Viséque, French detective and adventurer, 1773.
